GILMORE "DOUBLE CROSSED" HIM, IS STORY OF BAKER

Arson Promoter Told Detectives He Was Convinced That Head of Decorating Firm Collected Some of Excess Insurance on Plant.

In Dealings With Christen, According to Statement, He Locked Up Policies So It Could Not Happen Again.

Gilmore Called "Alias 'Double Cross'" on Berillon Records—Grand Jury Resumes Inquiry Into Fire Promotion.

"Alias Double-Cross" Gilmore. This is the entry following the name of Harold G. Gilmore of 497 McPherson avenue, head of the burned-out Gilmore-Berillon Decorating Co., 450 Olive street, on the Berillon records of the police department. The so-called "alias," which, however, is not an alias in the sense of having been used by the man himself, follows Gilmore's name in the department's measurement records, and on the back of his photograph.

Inquiry today, as to the reason for this appellation to Gilmore's name, brought out the fact that Herbert O. Baker of Webster Groves, confessed arson promoter, referred to Gilmore by this term of reproach, in describing to detectives the dealings which he said, he and Gilmore had in preparation for the Gilmore fire of July 24. It was also learned that Baker suspected Gilmore of having double-crossed him by collecting some of the excess insurance which Baker says he helped to place on the Olive street establishment.

This insurance, detectives have learned, amounted to $35,000, although the company's stock in trade cost it only $25,000, less than one-twelfth the amount of the insurance.

Baker did not at first make clear why, in describing a business which consists of "double crossing" insurance companies and the public, he should single out Gilmore for denunciation as a "double crosser." But when he came to tell of his dealings with Joseph C. Christen, who, in the interest of the law and of public safety, did successfully "double cross" him, Baker explained his reference to Gilmore.

Locked Up Christen Testifies. He said that, when he arranged the $25,000 excess insurance on the Christen bellows plant, 121 Dock street, he put the policies in his own safe deposit box. "I didn't propose," he said, "to let anybody else double cross me as Gilmore had done."

He went on to say that he believed Gilmore had collected a part of his excess insurance, and had "double-crossed" him, by not dividing it with him. The detectives reminded him that Gilmore said he had collected no insurance on his stock, and that the only insurance paid has been on the building, which is owned by another man.

"I'm not so sure about that," replied Baker, who persisted in the idea that Gilmore had played him false.

SOME AUTOS NEED SELF-STOPPERS.

TWO AUTO DEATHS DUE TO "CRIMINAL CARELESSNESS"

Finding of Coroner's Jury in Cases of Clarence Howard and Michael Mokler.

Witnesses Testify That Negro Chauffeur Was Driving 35 to 40 Miles an Hour.

Verdicts of criminal carelessness were returned by Coroner's juries today against Urban Turnquest, negro chauffeur for William H. Danforth of 17 Kingsbury place, who ran down with an automobile and killed Clarence Howard, 16 years old, of 5812 Ridge avenue Wednesday afternoon, and against John J. Fitzgerald of 4700A Cote Brillante avenue, who killed Michael Mokler of 307½ Pine street in front of the Planter's Hotel the same day.

Assistant Circuit Attorney Baer, who attended the two inquests, said that he would lay the facts in the Howard killing before the grand jury, but that he did not believe there was sufficient evidence of criminal carelessness in the Mokler killing to make a case against Fitzgerald.

By on Wrong Side of Street.

The testimony of three witnesses against Turnquest showed that he was driving his car north on Goodfellow avenue at a speed of 35 to 40 miles an hour when he struck and killed the Howard boy at Bartmer avenue. The boy on a bicycle was riding south on the east side of the street, in violation of the traffic law.

The testimony in the Mokler case showed that Fitzgerald was driving north on the west side of Fourth street, in violation of the traffic laws, when his machine struck and killed Mokler, who was crossing Fourth street from the Pierce Building to the Planters Hotel. Baer said that as Mokler was in the middle of the block, in violation of the traffic regulations, and Fitzgerald was not speeding, according to the testimony, there was not sufficient evidence to lay before the grand jury.

50 to 40 Miles an Hour.

Mrs. Martha Ford of 2020 Locust street; her brother, Fred H. Doolefield, a student of Eton Seminary, St. Charles, and Fred W. Schnathorst, also a student were the witnesses who testified that Turnquest was driving the automobile at a speed varying from 35 to 40 miles an hour.

Mrs. Ford was driving her own car north on Goodfellow avenue, and testified that Turnquest whizzed past her machine on the wrong side of the street, and that she was familiar with the speed of the defendant. Mrs. Ford said that she was familiar with the speed of automobiles, and testified that Turnquest was driving from 35 to 40 miles an hour when the automobile struck the Howard boy.

"My brother," she said, "exclaimed as the car passed us: 'Just look at the speed of that automobile!'"

Doolefield testified that he looked at the speedometer on his sister's machine when the Danforth car passed it. He said the speedometer indicated a speed of 20 miles an hour for Mrs. Ford's car, and that Turnquest was driving twice as fast. The negro drove the Danforth car two blocks while they were going one, he said. Schnathorst's testimony corroborated that of Mrs. Ford and Doolefield.

Turnquest testified that he was driving the car at 30 miles an hour and that he was on his way to the Glen Echo club to get Mrs. Danforth. He said that another automobile was to have gone from the Danforth home at 4 p. m. for Mrs. Danforth, but that the machine was out of order, and he was sent.

He was asked by Assistant Circuit Attorney Baer if he was not told to drive rapidly to the club, as he was late in starting, but he declared that he was driving no faster than usual.

Turnquest testified that when he saw Howard boy approaching on his bicycle on the wrong side of the street, he tried to turn out to avoid a collision. The boy turned in the same direction, at the same time, he said, making it impossible to avoid striking him.

VIENNA TO RECALL DUMBA; RELATIONS TO BE CONTINUED

Ambassador Will Be Summoned for "Conference," but Will Not Return to America.

FRIENDLY SPIRIT EVIDENT

Dispatches From Penfield Indicate Charge Will Be Left to Handle Affairs.

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—The Austrian Government intends to recall Ambassador Dumba for consultation, according to intimations given to Ambassador Penfield when he delivered the note from the United States, asking for the return of the Ambassador to Austria.

Such an arrangement, which is in accord with Dumba's own request for recall on leave of absence, is satisfactory to the American Government. It is understood, however, that Ambassador Dumba will not return to the United States at the termination of his leave. The purpose of these arrangements, it is understood, is to cause no interruption in the diplomatic relation of the two Governments, the change being looked upon as a personal affair between the two countries.

The Austrian Government has given every indication, from Ambassador Penfield's dispatches, that the Austrian Government intended the American note in friendly spirit and looks upon it as the usual request of a Government for the recall of an Ambassador on the ground that his usefulness to his own Government would be impaired by his continued presence.

It is now expected that Ambassador Dumba will receive word from his own Foreign Office that he is wanted in Vienna for consultation. The United States will arrange safe conduct, and with the Austrian embassy left in charge of a charge d'affaires, the incident will be closed.

Bernstorff Says He Declined Archibald's Offer to Carry Official Papers.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The Sun says that Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, declared last night his innocence of having done anything unnatural or compromising in the Archibald case by stating explicitly that he had given "no papers of any kind" to Archibald's keeping.

He said, furthermore, that if any papers signed by him were reported found among the Archibald documents that they were forged. "I have said over and over and will now say again, that I gave Archibald no official papers of any kind," said the Ambassador.

"The only things I did give him were a letter of recommendation to the German Foreign Office and a little gift for my wife. I think you will agree with me that neither of these things could by any possibility be considered unusual. In regard to the letter, I treated Archibald as I have treated hundreds of other men, knowing he wished to go through the German lines and I wanted to help him out. I have given another correspondent exactly the same sort of letter when he applied to me before leaving for Germany. This talk of doing anything unnatural in this regard is absurd."

"I repeat," continued Count von Bernstorff, "that I did not think it safe to trust Archibald with state papers. He asked me if I did not care to send something to him, but I told him no."

Doolefield.

Turnquest testified that he was driving the car at 30 miles an hour and that he was on his way to the Glen Echo club to get Mrs. Danforth. He said that another automobile was to have gone from the Danforth home at 4 p. m. for Mrs. Danforth, but that the machine was out of order, and he was sent.

SURGEON IS FATHER OF THEIR CHILDREN, TWO WOMEN SAY

Neighborhood Gossip Causes Arrest of Dr. Lanphear Both Women Declare They Still Love Him—One Lived With Him in Home.

Neighborhood gossip which has extended over several months caused the arrest of Dr. Emory Lanphear, 56 years old, chief surgeon of the German Hospital, 2447 Pine street, at his home, 6823 Soanian avenue, last night, and the discovery that for nearly five years he had been living apart 11 years.

"Great numbers of Americans are half-starved. Thousands are existing on bread that isn't fit to eat, and the horses and other beasts are struggling on half rations."

"In every bureau of the Austrian Government you will find Germans, often in minor positions, mere clerks some of them, but somehow giving orders that seem to be obeyed."

Another revelation was that Miss Anna Byrne received frequent visits from Dr. Lanphear at her flat, 2165A Geyer avenue, and that she alleged that he was the father of her 4-month-old boy.

Mrs. Pins assertion that Dr. Lanphear recently took her to California and returned with her about three weeks ago, will be made the subject of a Federal Mann act investigation.

Dr. Lanphear is held in the Central District police holdover, and Miss Byrne is in the matron's room. Mrs. Pine was not held.

Dr. Lanphear's wife, Mary, obtained a divorce in San Francisco June 21 last. They had been living apart 11 years. At the trial Mrs. Lanphear said they had one child, a boy.

John James Campbell lives at 274 Bennett place, far from Dr. Lanphear's Soanian avenue home. Recently he heard neighborhood gossip about the doctor. He was told that the doctor was with a young woman who sometimes carried a baby in her arms. She would ride to the end of the line with him. He would then pay her fare for the return trip and she would remain on the car while he walked to his home.

See Surgeon on Car.

Some of the neighbors said they had seen Dr. Lanphear kiss the young woman before parting from her on the car. Lanphear became more pronounced several months ago when neighbors read newspaper items which said Dr. Lanphear's wife had applied for a divorce in California. This was the first intimation that the woman with whom he was living had fully ascertained the limits of the new land he has discovered.

Before departing from Herschel Island for Banks Land with the Polar Bear and Gladiator, Stefansson established communication with the Southern party and also sent a man East with the power boat Mary Bachs to

VON HINDENBURG'S ARMY ADVANCING; CAPTURES VIDZY

Town 35 Miles South of Dvinsk and 12 Miles East of Vilna Railroad Taken in Important Flanking Operations in North.

Russians Continue Their Offensive in South, Causing Germans to Send Reinforcements.

Calling to Colors of Reserves Territorial Army Enables Russia to Pick From 8,000,000 Men.

By Associated Press.
VIENNA, via Berlin, by wireless to Tuckerton, N. J., Sept. 17.—An Austrian submarine commanded by Leut. von Trapp, torpedoed and sank a large British transport a few days ago in the southern Adriatic, according to an announcement made here today.

BERLIN, via London, Sept. 17.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg's forces, which have flanked Vilna and Dvinsk, cutting the railroad between those cities, have made a further advance to the east. The War Office announced today the capture of Vidzy, about 35 miles south of Dvinsk, and about 12 miles east of the railroad.

The War office statement says:

"Vidzy was captured early this morning after fierce fighting from house to house. Northwest and northeast of Vilna our attack continued. The Sacra has been crossed near the place bearing the same name."

"The troops of the army of Prince Leopold also have effected crossing over the Sacra at several points."

"Army group of Field Marshal von Mackensen: The march districts north of Pinsk have been cleared of the enemy."

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—While the Germans continue to advance slowly in the north and center of the line in the west, the Russians in the south are repeating their successes against the Austro-German armies, which are now being driven back across the River Stripa in Galicia, and have been forced to retire westward, north of the Galician frontier.

While these Russian victories naturally are welcomed in Russia and the allied countries as an evidence that the Russian armies are still able to take the offensive when well supplied with ammunition, there is no inclination to exaggerate their importance. The engagements, however, keep the Austro-Germans busy and make it imperative to send reinforcements southward which could be used to better advantage in the north, where operations of much greater moment are being directed by Field Marshal von Hindenburg.

To the south of Vilna, toward Grodno, the Russians are offering stubborn resistance and have the Germans firmly held. Something of the kind has happened in the center: Prince Leopold has been delayed in his advance. Field Marshal von Mackensen has sent his forces through the Prussian marches and is now in possession of Pinsk. From this point southward the Russians are advancing and have recaptured a number of villages, but they are not likely to push their advantage much further, as to do so would make their northern flank vulnerable.

Importance is attached to the decision of Russia to call to the colors the reserves of the territorial army. Since the age limit is fixed at 35 years, this can only mean that the additional 8,000,000 men to the Russian forces. Naturally, all these could not be armed and equipped, but Russia could have the pick of them.

With Russia well supplied with munitions, her allies, who have been supplying her, are now about to turn their attention to their own armies, and in consequence there is no cessation in the artillery engagements which have been so marked in the west for several weeks.

Dardanelles Losses $7,000.
In the Dardanelles the British losses again totalled $7,000, from Aug. 11. The British submarine E-7, operating in those waters, which the Turks claim to have sunk, is admitted by the British Admiralty to have been missing since Sept. 4.

The E-7 did a great deal of damage to Turkish shipping in the Sea of Marmara and after blocking the railway line near Kara Burnu, by bombarding it from the sea, shelled a troop train and blew up three ammunition cars attached to it. Lieutenant-Commander Archibald D. Cochrane, in command of the E-7, only a few days ago was awarded the Distinguished Service order for this exploit.

Russians Sink Turkish Fleet Lades with Mortars. SEBASTOPOL, Russia, Sept. 17.—Official announcement was made here today that Russian torpedo boats had sunk near Sinope, a report of Asia Minor, on the Black Sea, an entire fleet of sailing vessels laden with munitions of war. The crews of these vessels were taken prisoners.

Body of Bank Clerk Found in River. PULSA, Ok., Sept. 17.—The body of G. C. Kuhn, a bank clerk, who was said to be more than $300 short in his accounts, and who last Saturday ended his life by jumping into the Arkansas River, was found near Jenks, several miles downstream.

New Type of Motor Boat With Which the British Hope to Drive German Submarines From Seas

A SLIM, white, high-powered motor boat, which rests like a bubble on the water, yet is capable of making a speed of more than 35 miles an hour, is part of a large order being executed at Greenport, L. I., for the allies.

The vessels have been nicknamed "mosquitos" because of their size and fleetness. They are to be used to overhaul the German submarines and destroy them being equipped with rapid-firing guns for this purpose.

The boats are 60 feet long, with a beam of 10 feet and float in 2½ feet of water. The three big engines which drive the three propellers, and the four gasoline tanks occupy the center section and leave no room for passage forward and aft beneath the deck. A small sliding hatch is forward of the sleeping quarters for six men and another at the stern to quarters for two. A third hatch admits admiral to the engine rooms.

ing on Scanian avenue was not his wife.

Last night Campbell, another headquarters detective and James McLaughlin, a special investigator for the United States Department of Justice, especially assigned to Mann act cases, were out on an assignment which had no reference to Dr. Lanphear.

They rode west on a Tower Grove car and followed the young woman to the flat at 216A Geyer avenue, where they took her in custody. She gave her name as Miss Annie Byrne. She insisted on taking her baby to the police station, her saying: "It's Dr. Lanphear's child."

At the Geyer avenue flat today Mrs. Rose Walter, a trained nurse, told a Post-Dispatch reporter the real name of the young woman was Anne Bernd. She said the young woman and Dr. Lanphear had been friendly for four years.

After taking Miss Byrne to the station the detectives went to Dr. Lanphear's home, where they found the surgeon and Mrs. Pins on a sleeping porch. Dr. Lanphear at first was indignant, but later he admitted that he and Mrs. Pins had been living under the same roof for about five years.

"He Is Mine," Woman Says. "He is mine, just as much as if we were married," said Mrs. Pins. "He is the father of my two children."

Dr. Lanphear denied that he knew Miss Bernd or Byrne. At the Geyer avenue flat today Mrs. Walter, who said she had been boarding there about five months, told of Dr. Lanphear's frequent visits there. Mrs. Walter said Miss Bernd knew of Dr. Lanphear's wife and of Mrs. Pins but had frequently said: "I don't care if he has a heart; I love him just the same." She said Miss Bernd was about 24 years old and first met Dr. Lanphear about four years ago when she was in a training school for nurses. She moved to the Geyer avenue flat about five months ago.

At the Scanian avenue home, Mrs. Wilson, a sister of Mrs. Pins, said Dr. Lanphear had lived there about five years and had supplied money to keep up the house. Mrs. Wilson and her husband also live there.

Mrs. Wilson said Dr. Lanphear never denied that he was the father of Mrs. Pins' children, Clarence, 6, and Carl, 3. Mrs. Pins' children by her former marriage are Viola, 13, and Wallace, 8. She was divorced from her first husband eight years ago.

Never Expected to Marry Him. In the matron's room today the young woman arrested at the Geyer avenue flat insisted her name was Byrne and not Bernd. She said she met Dr. Lanphear about four years ago at the American Hospital, and fell in love with him. "I still love him, and I believe he loves me," she said, "but I never expected him to come to me and will never ask him to. I will rear and support our child. I have named the baby Richard Bruce. Neither he nor I ever thought I was the doctor's wife, but I never gave that impression."

"Shortly before my baby was born Mrs. Pins visited me. She told me she was the mother of two of Dr. Lanphear's children. I thought then she was his wife. I told her I would never mention Dr. Lanphear and never claim his name. Now I realize Mrs. Pins and I are in the same boat and I have as much right to him as she has."

Dr. Lanphear, in his holdover cell, refused to make a statement. He would only say, "I can't talk about this until I consult a lawyer."

Mrs. Pins was not at the Scanian avenue house when detectives went there to take her to police headquarters today. They did not intend to arrest her, but desired to get her formal statement.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Plans to send former Secretary Bryan on a mission of peace to the warring nations of Europe were the subject of a conference here today between the former Cabinet officer and Dr. William F. Doherty, president of the American newspapermen's association.

A trustworthy account of the interview was given by Rockefeller, who said Morgan had to say and contented himself with taking the matter "under advisement." Standard Oil's eventual attitude will be favorable, it is thought.

ALLIES' FINANCIERS AND BANKERS HOLD SECRET SESSION

Negotiations Will Result, It Is Believed, in Loan Reaching $750,000,000.

MAY COVER MUNITIONS

Pro-German Institutions in New York Show Increased Willingness to Participate.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Another secret meeting, the third within three days, was held today between members of the Anglo-French Financial Commission and representatives of big New York, St. Louis, Chicago, Boston and other out-of-town banking houses who are endeavoring to reach an agreement on the proposed mammoth credit loan to Great Britain and France.

No further word was forthcoming from the commission than its brief statement of last night saying so much had already been accomplished that it was held a definite statement could be issued telling of the progress made.

The proposal, said to have been made by American bankers, that the loan originally asked, was widely credited today.

Several press dispatches from New York and Washington, as taken from the London press, were printed yesterday and today. They are most contradictory. One has it that the question of the Arabic will be referred to The Hague; another contradicts this and a third declares that a diplomatic break is certain. Still another says the American people are strongly opposed to war with Germany.

May Reach $750,000,000.

This proposal has not appeared to be altogether acceptable to the commission and it is believed the sum will be increased by $100,000,000 or possibly to $750,000,000 before negotiations end. Whatever is loaned, it is generally believed, the interest rate will be 6 per cent to the investor and about 5½ per cent to the underwriters.

Whether the big credit should be used to pay for shipment of war munitions as well as wheat, cotton and other commodities, has been the subject of much discussion among the conferees. It is believed a much larger loan could be floated if it were understood that the credit would apply only to commodity shipments and that munitions would be paid for in some other manner, possibly by gold shipments.

Great Britain and France, it is said, opposed this plan, however, and are desiring of having the big credit cover exports of every form.

Increasing willingness on the part of certain so-called pro-German financial institutions here to participate was manifest today. These banking houses, it was said, are pro-German only by sympathy, and if invited, many would subscribe largely to a credit loan which would operate toward a continuance of the present prosperity enjoyed by American exporters.

It must be evident that this contradictory tangle of news dispatches not only makes it utterly impossible for the public mind of Germany to find its bearings in the American situation, but also is bound to produce complete bewilderment and confusion as the intentions, views and methods of the two powers of the world.

Rockefeller assails Wolffs for contributing to such bewilderment by distributing Reuter dispatches, and comments

Ambassador Gerard Also in the Dark Over Developments in the Arabic Case—Contradictory Reuter Dispatches Blamed for Confusion.

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND.

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

BERLIN, Sept. 17.—Germany is more or less in a state of confusion over the real status of the American-German crisis, and the developments which may have taken place in Washington. All diplomatic conversations and negotiations are taking place wholly in Washington. Ambassador Gerard appears to be playing no important role at present. Both the embassy and the German Government cannot be sent by wireless.

A second factor held responsible in large part for the mischief created between Germany and America is, it is charged, the alleged efforts of Reuter's and the London press to play off one country against the other by reason of the position they occupy between Germany and America in the matter of communication.

Admiral von Truppel Criticized.

Yesterday and today there is a veritable outbreak in a portion of the press which criticizes Admiral von Truppel, who broke a lance on behalf of making America's position clear to the Germans.

The Hamburg Fremdenblatt, in a two-column lead on the first page, makes a bitter attack on the Reuter news agency, charging it with distortion of any "broken word" on the part of Germany or any attempt to free herself from her promises.

6 CONVICTIONS IN 15 KILLINGS BY AUTOS IN 2 YEARS

Paroles Given in Most of These Cases, Not One Person Sent to the Penitentiary; Difficult to Show Criminal Intent on Part of Drivers.

SIX DEATHS SINCE FIRST OF SEPTEMBER

In This Same Period There Have Been a Total of 187 Motor Car Accidents and in These There Have Been 102 Injuries.

Examination of criminal court records, made today by a Post-Dispatch reporter, following six deaths and 102 injuries in 187 automobile accidents since Sept. 1, disclosed that, while 15 prosecutions for manslaughter in the fourth degree for killings by automobiles and two cases of felonious wounding, have been initiated by the prosecuting authorities during the last two years, not one person has been sent to the penitentiary.

The maximum penalty for manslaughter in the fourth degree is two years in the penitentiary and the minimum is three months in jail or a fine of $100.

In six cases there were convictions on pleas of guilty or by jury, and in the other cases the defendants were acquitted by juries, discharged by the Court on preliminary hearing, or the case was nolle prossed by the Circuit Attorney.

Offenses in Prosecution.

The Circuit Attorney's office has met with great difficulty in obtaining convictions in automobile cases because it has been impossible to show criminal intent on the part of the drivers. Juries were inclined to view most of the cases as accidents.

It is said the Kaiser has issued an order, dated on the anniversary of Tannenberg that the Second Masurian Regiment, No. 147, should in future be called Field Marshal von Hindenburg.

THIS photograph of Field Marshal von Hindenburg was made for sale throughout Germany and Austria in commemoration of the great victory of Tannenberg. It shows him wearing both classes of the Iron Cross. He is seated before a map, in fatigues uniform, compass in hand, studying distance and strategical arrangements.

tion of traffic so as to prevent accidents.

"I think that is shown by our recent conference with police and city officials and the Judges of the Police Courts with respect to the regulation of headlights. The result of our efforts in this line is that at least 75 per cent of the automobile drivers on the road are now showing proper consideration for the driver coming in the opposite direction and for pedestrians.

Dimming of Lights.

"I have observed that nearly all automobile drivers, upon seeing a car approaching from the opposite direction, immediately dim their lights. I know from my own experience that drivers approaching me immediately do the same. This is now regarded as proper courtesy between automobile drivers. This practice enables automobiles to pass each other in safety, and as soon as they have passed each other the drivers switch on their bright headlights again, until they meet another machine. But by proper adjustments of lights, which the city will make at its new testing station at the city hall, no dimmers will be needed, and the shaft of light will be thrown upon the road, and will not blind or bewilder either pedestrian or automobile.

"But it should be remembered that driving a car without lights or with insufficient lights, is as dangerous as the glaring headlights. All drivers should be required to have their cars properly lighted at night.

"It will take time to educate the people of St. Louis in automobile traffic matters. In the Eastern cities where automobiles have been largely used for many years, one finds that the signals of traffic policemen are strictly obeyed, and that pedestrians are not crossing the streets in the middle of the blocks, cutting corners, or discussing their business affairs in the streets.

Stopping in Streets.

"In St. Louis it appears that about nine-tenths of the people stop right in the middle of the streets to transact business. It is no uncommon thing to see persons walking across the streets reading letters or newspapers and paying no attention to vehicles or the signs.

"The Police Department should prevent pedestrians from cutting corners and crossing the streets except at all crossings.

"Children playing in the streets are another source of danger. It is against the law for them to play in the streets, but the law is not enforced. Many of them are in the streets on roller skates, or other devices, and they hang on behind automobiles or vehicles, endangering their own lives.

TRAVELOGUE WILL SHOW WAR-SWEPT WARSAW TONIGHT

TERMS WITH TURKS MEET OPPOSITION AMONG BULGARIANS

"Russia and Poland" Frank R. Roberson's Timely Theme at the Odeon.

Last night's audience at the Odeon, for the fourth of Frank R. Roberson's plays, nearly filled the hall, and marked the assured success of the drama, from the proceeds of which the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund is to receive $1000.

The first two travelogues were on "Germany," and the third on "England," and many natives or former residents of those countries attended. But last night's subject was "Constantinople and the Dardanelles," and the attendance was based not on nationality or war sympathy, but on interest in travel and the sights of strange lands.

Mediterranean scenes and views from the Holy Land, with a moving picture of the Spanish bullfight, were included, but the interest centered in the views of the Dardanelles, where the nations are now grappling, and of the forts which guard the road to Constantinople.

"Russia and Poland," featuring the recently battle-swept district in and around Warsaw, will be the travlogue tonight, one of the most interesting and timely that Roberson has to offer. The ancient Polish capital, and Peterhof, Moscow, Odessa, and other cities of Russia, will be visited. Russian scenes will be shown in motion pictures, the Cossacks pictured in a dance, and the Czar, members of his family, the Grand Duke Nicholas, recently relieved of command, and the Generals and Admirals directing Russia's forces in the war will be portrayed.

On Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock Mr. Roberson will present "The Alps," one of his most artistic travelogues. A motion picture of mountain climbs at dizzy heights will be a feature.

The coupons which, with 10 cents, will be good for admission to the travlogue tonight or Saturday afternoon, are on the first page of this paper. Reserved seats are 25 cents.

Palladium Palace of roller skating opens tonight. Morgan, west of Grand.

CHILE AND PERU WANT CLOSER TRADE RELATIONS WITH U. S.

Secretary of Financial Congress Says He Found Feeling of Disappointment Over Conditions.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Dr. L. S. Howe, secretary-general of the Pan-American financial congress, who has returned from a three-months' trip to South America, where he studied financial, industrial and commercial conditions, declared that in Peru and Chile, especially, he found a feeling of disappointment that American exporters had not taken advantage of the opportunity to build up closer trade relations.

Dr. Howe, who is professor of political science at the University of Pennsylvania, also was entrusted with a special mission by Secretary McAdoo to confer with finance ministers with a view to giving early effect to the resolutions passed by the recent Washington meeting of the congress.

The opening of the Panama Canal, Dr. Howe said, had not resulted in any great saving of time between New York and Chile.

COCOANUT OIL MAKES A SPLENDID SHAMPOO

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, the less soap you use the better.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain molasses coconut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonsful will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dirt, and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get molasses coconut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

AMERICAN PUT INTO PRISON IN RUSSIA WITH MURDERERS

Congressional Library Employee, Home From Russia, Testifies Now, Passport Was Taken From Him.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Dr. H. C. Leinenweber, who is connected with the music division of the Congressional Library at Washington accompanied by his wife and child, arrived today on the Russian steamer Kursk from Archangel. He told of being arrested by Russian police, stripped and thrown into a cell with five murderers. Forty-eight hours later the Grodno police obtained their release.

Dr. Leinenweber and his family went to visit relatives near Grodno more than a year ago. Last November he and his brother-in-law crossed the Dvina River to Dvinsk to buy supplies. The men left their passports at Police Headquarters being told the papers would be sent to their hotel shortly.

That same evening Leinenweber said, the Chief of Police and 10 officers entered their room, stripped them, took away all papers and letters, and put Dr. Leinenweber and his brother-in-law in a small cell with five murderers. Forty-eight hours later the Grodno police obtained their release.

170 OCEAN-GOING VESSELS USED PANAMA CANAL IN JULY

Total Cargoes Amount to 705,469

Tons—New Traffic Records Set.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—New traffic records were set in the operation of the Panama Canal during July, 170 ocean-going vessels making the passage of the waterway. That was 5.65 per cent greater than the average traffic of the preceding months. The cargoes amounted to 705,469 tons, a new record. Ninety-three ships moved from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Seventy-seven ships passed from the Pacific to the Atlantic.

Reports indicating that much of the coastwise trade originated in inland cities was interpreted by Government officials as showing that the cost of transportation by ocean and through the waterway was so low as to enable steamship lines to absorb in their rates all or part of the rail charges to and from the seaboard.

Arrangements were completed today for the transfer of Panama Canal employees to the Government classified service under civil service rules.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

WANT RECEIVER'S REPORT

Joseph T. Ryerson & Son filed a petition in the United States District Court today, asking that W. G. Hager, receiver for the John Rohan & Sons Boiler Works, be ordered to make a report and that the Court consider the removal of Hager as receiver. The petitioners are creditors of the boiler company for $4000.

Last March, when Hager was appointed receiver, he was authorized to carry out a contract involving $16,000, work upon which had been begun. The petition alleges that this work has been delayed unduly and that money has been paid to creditors with assignments made prior to the receivership.

Statement to Be Issued Pointing Out Perils of Goverment's Policy.

PARIS, Sept. 17.—A dispatch to the Balkan Agency from Bucharest says that the leaders of all the opposition parties in Bulgaria have held a meeting at which it was determined to publish a statement to the country explaining the international political situation as affecting that nation and pointing out that in the present circumstances the attitude taken by the Government has been erroneous.

The Bulgarian Government's decision to make terms with Turkey has met with considerable opposition. Recent advices from Bucharest represented a majority of the Turks as favoring a rapprochement with the quadruple entente. Servia and Greece.

Views of Servian Premier.
"Servia has done her duty fully as an ally," said Premier Pachitch of Servia, as quoted by the correspondent at Nish of the Petit Parisien. "First she has soundly beaten the Austrians in the field. Second, she has made the consequences of her victory known to the Balkan enemies."

"Whether Bulgaria will come into the entente is another question."

The Balkan states are deeply concerned over the reported concentration of the enemy north of Servia for the purpose of going to the assistance of the Turks. As a matter of fact, no army of the enemy has assembled on the Danube. We have continuous and detailed reports from French aviators on this point.

Servian Army Reorganized.

"The Servian army has been reorganized and is well supplied with machine guns. It would be extremely difficult for the enemy a crossing of the mountainous country. He would require at least 450,000 men to make the attempt. Where would the Germans find them now?"

A further large number of troops has been called to the Greek colors, according to a report from the Balkan agency's Athens correspondent. He says a royal decree has been issued calling out reservists of the classes of 1888, 1887 and 1886 on Oct. 1.

Germany Said to Have Offered Byzantine Crown to Bulgaria's King.

TURIN, Sept. 17.—The Stampa says it has learned "from a diplomatic source" that Germany has made extensive promises to Bulgaria to obtain that nation's benevolent neutrality. It states that these promises were made to King Ferdinand of Bulgaria by the Grand Duke of Mecklenburg on behalf of Emperor William and that among them was the stipulation that King Ferdinand should have the crown of Byzantium.

This dispatch, which lacks authentication, would indicate on its face a promise to Bulgaria of a radical extension of its boundaries. The ancient Byzantine empire included all the territory now held by the various Balkan nations and European Turkey.

Relations Between Bulgaria and Greece Said to Be Improving.

ATHENS, Sept. 16, via Berlin and London, Sept. 17.—There are indications that the relations between Greece and Bulgaria are improving. In the most influential circles the conviction is said now to have been reached that neutrality must be the only policy for Greece.

The latest news from Bulgaria expresses the hope for more cordial relations with Greece have made a deep impression, as has also the declaration that the future of the Balkans depends upon an understanding between these two nations.

The pro-Russian newspaper Mir has been suppressed.

Activity of Rumanian Troops Due Only to Annual Maneuvers.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, via Berlin and London, Sept. 17.—The allies know that in no case may they count on Bulgaria's help on the Gallipoli Peninsula, the semi-official Independance Romane in an article dealing with the Turco-Bulgarian agreement. "They have lost that part of their diplomatic contest in the Balkans. It remains to be seen how the other part will come out."

"King Ferdinand will leave tomorrow for a week's vacation on the Danube. This fact completely disposes of reports concerning the activities of Rumanian troops on the frontier, which in reality are nothing more than the annual maneuvers."

RUINS OF A CLIFF DWELLERS' BUILDING FOUND IN COLORADO

Scientist Believes Structure in Form of Letter "D" Was Uncompleted Fortress.

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 17.—Ruins of buildings of what are believed to have been the last of the cliff dwellers recently have been excavated in the Mesa Verde National Park, in Southwestern Colorado, according to word brought to Denver by Enos A. Mills, Colorado author and naturalist. The ruins, according to Mills, open the way for new efforts to solve the mystery of the early races on the continent.

Excavation work has been done by Government agents, under supervision of Dr. J. W. Fewkes of Smithsonian Institution. Scientists uncovered a building of cut and polished stone in the form of letter "D," with the upright 12 feet long and the curved part 26 feet in circumference. The walls are about seven feet thick and hollow, with rooms inside. Dr. Fewkes believes the ruin was an uncompleted fortress.

U.S. CAVALRYMEN
IN BATTLE WITH CARRANZA TROOPS

Have 15-Minute Fight Across Border Near City Limits of Brownsville, Tex.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Sept. 17.—American cavalrymen and Carranza soldiers had a 15-minute battle across the river today near the city limits of Brownsville. Soldiers report they killed one Mexican and hit five others. They saw about 15 Carranza soldiers in two separate groups.

European Nations Ask U. S. About Plans for Mexico.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Informal inquiries have been made by some of the European Governments as to the Washington administration's next step in the Mexican situation.

Ambassador Jusserand of France had a long talk with Secretary Lansing yesterday. Colville Barclay, the British Charge d'Affaires, discussed the situation with the State Department officials and notified them that orders had gone forth to British Consuls to consult with American Consuls on the advisability of withdrawing from northern Mexico.

From high official quarters it is learned that no decision has been reached with respect to the recognition of any Government in Mexico, but the subject will be fully considered at the Pan-American conference Saturday.

Unable to Meet Carranza.

It is understood that the agent of a press of international affairs Gen. Carranza's invitation to the conference to meet him at some point on the border may not be accepted, but the suggestion of discussing with his representatives the international questions involved in the situation is likely to be met with an invitation to Gen. Carranza, to send delegates here instead.

It is said to be the intention of the Pan-American conference, to give an audience also to representatives of other Mexican factions who already are en route to Washington.

Carranza's Washington agents appear to believe that the trump card in their play for recognition by President Wilson is a promise to settle without delay something more than $200,000,000 in claims held by foreigners who have pillaged and looted the property of Americans and others during the last few years.

Rockefeller Contribution.

Further relief work by the American Red Cross in Mexico City, where thousands are dependent upon charity for food, has been made possible by a contribution of $25,000 from the Rockefeller Foundation.

Brigadier-General Devol, general manager of the Red Cross, announced last night that he had telegraphed Charles J. O'Connor, the society's representative in the Mexican capital, asking what money would be needed for the next 30 days and advising that all reasonable demands could be met.

When the Rockefeller contribution came yesterday in response to a request from Gen. Devol, the Red Cross' Mexican relief treasury had been empty since Sept. 1. At that time O'Connor was notified that funds were exhausted and that it might be necessary to discontinue his work. He replied, however, that he had sufficient supplies on hand to last about three weeks longer.

MINISTER, PRESIDENT'S FRIEND,
LOST IN MOUNTAINS 13 DAYS

Government Agents in Hunt in National Park for the Rev. T. R. Sampson of Austin, Texas.

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 17.—Aid of the entire Government service of Estes Park may be enlisted in hunting for the Rev. Thornton R. Sampson of Austin, Tex., who has been lost for the last 13 days. The minister was a close personal friend of President Wilson and of Secretary Houston.

The minister's son, Frank W. Sampson, who came to Denver yesterday to direct the search for his father, sent the following telegram this morning to Secretary of Agriculture Hoagton:

"Father lost in National Park between Grand Lake and Estes Park. Four days' futile search by scouts. Please notify President Wilson, Attorney-General Gregory and Postmaster-General Burleson. I go to Estes Park tonight. Will keep in touch with Assistant District Forester Morrell."

It was planned to make efforts today to penetrate to the upper end of Odessa Lake gorge, where, according to guides, it is believed the body of the missing man will be found.

DANIELS ORDERS SUBMARINES OF F TYPE OUT OF COMMISSION

Takes Action Upon Report That F-4
Disaster Was Caused by Battery Explosion.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Secretary Daniels today ordered all submarines of the F-4 type out of commission until a thorough examination of them can be made. His action was taken upon the report of the Board of Inquiry investigating the sinking of the F-4 at Honolulu on March 25, which ascribes the disaster to a battery explosion.

The F-1, F-3 and F-4 will probably be brought under convey to the Mare Island navy yard for examination.

I Received for Freight, San Fran-

KISCO CITY, Cal., Sept. 17.—With this sentence today to four years the punishment of three employees of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad, a series of freight car robbers covering three years was brought to an end. Special agents for the road secured confession from 18 employees telling of the taking of thousands of dollars' worth of goods.

ALDERMEN TO BE ASKED TO CREATE MEDIATION BOARD

City Counselor to Introduce Today a Measure Suggested by Father Dempsey.

A bill creating a Board of Industrial Disputes of seven members to arbitrate labor controversies, will be introduced by City Counselor Daves at the session of the Board of Aldermen today, the first meeting after a three months' vacation.

The Daves measure is original in most of its provisions, and was drafted at the suggestion of the Rev. Father Timothy Dempsey, pastor of St. Patrick's Church, after Father Dempsey had settled the teamsters' strike last month. The bill does not attempt to make arbitration compulsory, as do the national laws of New Zealand, Australia and Canada, which the Rev. Father Dempsey consulted. It provides that the Mayor shall appoint four members of the board and himself act as ex-officio chairman. Each party to any dispute shall be invited to select a representative to act as member of the board until the matter in dispute is disposed of. The board members and secretary shall serve without compensation. The city will provide offices for the conduct of hearings, and shall pay the expenses of the board.

No Testimony Under Oath.

The bill stipulates that the board shall have no power to compel the attendance of witnesses, but shall issue invitations to the parties to administer oaths to those who testify before it.

Counselor Daves believes that such a board can prevent many strikes by mediating the difference between employers and workmen, and will be more effective than if the city attempted to give it power to enforce its decisions, a power which probably would be held unlawful by the courts.

Alley Bill to Be Taken Up.

The Mercantile Trust Co. alley vacation bill, which was defeated at a special session of the Aldermen in July by two votes, will be reintroduced by the Board of Public Service. As before, the bill provides for a compensation of $200 to the city for the vacating of the blind alley at the rear of the trust company's building.

This alley is a space extending 96 feet east and west, and 23 feet 10 inches north and south. It opens into a north and south alley, but its only connection with Eighth street is through a passage way 4 feet 5 inches wide and 31 feet long. The city owns only the easement on the blind alley, and if its use as an alley is abandoned it will revert to the adjoining property, all of which is owned or leased by the trust company.

At the time when the bill was pending, the Post-Dispatch arrived at an estimate of the value of the ground to the trust company to be $12,000, and the difference between the assessed value of the property, $25, a front foot on Eighth street, and the property adjoining on the north, $10 a front foot. On the basis of this difference, $125 a front foot, the blind alley would have an assessment value of $30,885.50, and as the assessment is about one-half the actual value, the actual value would be $60,771.

The bill was defeated, after Aldermen voted that Festus J. Wade, president of the company, had told them that a certain influential man had told him that he could get the alley vacated for nothing.

Bill Aimed at "Tipping Trust."

Twenty-four principal city officials to give 15 days' notice of disbursements to laborers and mechanics, will be introduced at the request of J. P. McDonough, representing the stationary engineers' union.

Alderman Scholl will offer a measure aimed at the cafe "tipping trust." It prohibits the division of tips by employers.

Alderman Hart will offer a resolution creating a special committee to investigate the feasibility of establishing a municipal garbage reduction plant to supplant the private plant in Illinois when its contract expires in 1918. It is probable the city will attempt to purchase the private plant, located a mile below the city limits on the opposite bank of the river. It was constructed by the Indiana Reduction Co. at a cost of nearly $300,000 and is the most modern of the large reduction plants in the country.

Alderman Barney L. Schwartz will ask that power to summon witnesses be conferred on a special committee to investigate the feasibility of a municipal lighting plant, of which he is chairman. Within a short time, the committee plans to begin hearings at which Union Electric officials will be questioned.

LONDON TIMES DENOUNCES APPEAL FOR A CAT'S HOME

Seems Out of Season When Most Frightful War of Modern Times Is on, Paper Says.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—An urgent appeal in behalf of a cat's home, stating that "this dreadful war will break us unless our kind friends help us to hold on," moves the Times to an editorial protest.

"In the throes of the most frightful war of modern times," remarks the paper, "when millions of human beings are suffering death, mutilation, famine, disease and the added anguish that comes of looking before and after, executions to bestow arms upon animals seems a little out of season."

The appeal for the home for cats is signed by a large number of names out of the paper. It is a large organization with chartered accountants and five cat hospitals, where 80 per cent of the patients are deranged painlessly on admittance and the remainder kept in gauze. A cart calls for patients and undergoes a special messenger service for them. There is also a night bell so that patients may be received at all hours. Wealthy persons wishing to get rid of their pets may do so at a moderate fee.

"This is no time to maulder over cats," says the Times.

"DOCTOR" FINED $300 FOR DISTURBING WOMAN'S PEACE

Plaintiff Called Policeman When, She Says, Doctor Discussed Pimples on Her Chin and Grew Familiar.

Irvin G. Houston, 240 Washington avenue, who calls himself a doctor of mechano-therapy and says he has a degree from the American College of Chicago, was fined $300 in Police Judge Sanders' court today on a charge of disturbing the peace of Mrs. Frieda Barlow, 20 years old, of 201 Franklin avenue.

Mrs. Barlow testified she went to Houston's office several days ago in answer to an advertisement for women solicitors. She found about 40 other applicants there, who said some of whom, herself included, were invited to interview Houston personally.

She declared Houston pointed to a pimple on her chin, declared she needed treatment and became offensively familiar. She ran out and called a policeman.

Houston denied her story. He said he was the agent of a beauty doctor and advised Mrs. Barlow to consult him. An official of the Health Department declared the beauty doctor had denied having any business arrangement with Houston.

C. W. Harkness on R. & O. Board.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Charles W. Harkness, a director of the Standard Oil Co., was yesterday elected a director of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad at a meeting of the directors here. He succeeds the late Norman B. Ryan. The board authorized the construction of a new export coal pier at Baltimore at an estimated cost of $1,600,000.

PRISONERS GIVEN FOUR YEARS, CALLED BACK, 16 MORE ADDED

Federal Judge Hears Additional Evidence, Realizes Gravity of Crime; Virtual Informer Gets Five Years.

DANVILLE, Ill., Sept. 17.—Federal Judge Francis M. Wright, who had previously sentenced three postoffice robbers, on their plea of guilty, to terms of four years each in the Federal prison, withdrew his sentence, brought them back from the county jail where they were awaiting transportation to Fort Leavenworth to begin their terms, and added 16 years to each sentence.

The men are Jack Denvers, George Esterbrook and Jack Nolan, said to be long-time gamblers and postoffice robbers out of Memphis, Tenn. There were four men charged with the crime. Last Monday Denvers, Esterbrook and Nolan entered pleas of guilty. George Oakes, the fourth member of the gang, did not Thursday he was tried. The evidence was of such character that Judge Wright realized he had made a mistake.

He brought the three men from the county jail and the 20 years' sentences were imposed.

Later the jury in the Oakes case came in with a verdict of guilty on one count for which the sentence cannot be over five years.

Kills Wife, Two Daughters and Self.

HARRISBURG, Miss., Sept. 17.—Monroe M. Lee, a farmer, killed his wife and two young daughters near here yesterday, then committed suicide.

A coroner's jury concluded that Lee, who was 26 years old, had suddenly become mentally deranged.

FLEES TWICE FROM POLICEMAN

Man Beaten When Captured Third Time—Sent to Hospital.

A policeman at Jefferson avenue and Wash street at 1 o'clock this morning beat a negro man who was dragging a young negro woman toward the city half a block away. The man was captured, but broke away and ran to Leffingwell and Easton avenues, where he was overtaken. Again the prisoner resisted arrest and got away. The policeman pursued him to a saloon at Ewing and Easton avenues, and when again tried to get away, beat the prisoner on the head with a nightstick.

At the city hospital the man was treated for scalp wounds. He said he was Michael Grady, 21 years old, of 805 Horton place. The negro said he was Max Tillman, living at 402 West Bell place.

"BOO" FRIGHTENS BURGLARS
FROM WALTON AVENUE FLAT

TWO MEN ARRESTED, ONE WITH STOLEN
GOODS IN HIS POSSESSION.

Two burglars were frightened from the home of George Shirley, 1222 Walton avenue, last night when Shirley cried "Boo!" They fled down a flight of stairs to the basement and jumped through a plate-glass door.

Shirley pursued a man to Taylor avenue and Page boulevard, where police men caught the fugitive. Neckties and handkerchiefs found in the pockets of the prisoners were identified as being stolen from the home of Mrs. Anna Kassler, 488 Evans avenue. The prisoner said he was William Doering, 28 years old, of Fifteenth street and Chouteau avenue.

Later it was learned that the flat of Carl Wentzelman, above that of the Shirley flat, had been ransacked. The Wentzelmans are out of town. A gold watch and a manicuring set found in Doering's possession is held for identification.

David Creeley, 23 years old, of 4008 Lucky street was arrested an hour after the capture of Doering, and was identified as a man seen running from the Shirley home with Doering.

The police learned that Doering's father conducted a bakery at Newstead avenue and Lucky street, a few blocks from Creeley's home.

CATARRH GERMS EASILY KILLED

Only Way to Cure This Disease Is to Destroy the Germs

If you have catarrh and want to get rid of it you must kill the germs which cause catarrh. Stomach dosing, ointments, sprays, creams, douches, etc., fail because they overlook this fact. They do not reach the germ life that has found a home in your body. If you do not destroy the germ life it is they did.

The best known way of destroying the dangerous germs of Catarrh and consequently ending the disease itself is to breath the air of Hyomei. It is the most pleasant nose and throat the pleasantest medicine in the world. Hyomei is made from pure oil of eucalyptus combined with other powerful ingredients.

You breathe it through a small bottle which you can keep in your pocket. You will find it a great help in reducing colds and inflammation and open your nostrils.

Hyomei will absolutely and positively destroy every trace of Catarrh from life.

Dr. H. H. Hohenthal, St. Louis, has blessed lasting relief that Hyomei brings to those who use it.

Hyomei is the only guaranteed safe and reliable remedy for successful results are not assured from the use of any other nostril spray. Get a Hyomei outfit from your druggist—let cool air pass over your nostrils to drive the dangerous and disturbing disease from your system forever.—ADV.

Without Health You
Are Not an Optimist

Optimism, which is another name for courage, is one of the most potent factors in human progress. It enables one to rally when defeats are encountered, to be brave in the face of disappointment, to fight on and on until the battle of life has been won and the heart's desire is satisfied.

Optimism is best preserved in the body that is free from pain, that is not impeded by weakness. So those who take care of the health by taking Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as prescribed, are not only preserving that which will add immensely to the joy of living, but are taking care of that which will be a mighty contribution to their success in meeting and triumphing over the difficulties encountered along the road to success. Duffy's extra is a very agreeable and medicinal action upon a person's digestion and imparts a feeling of strength and vigor—that's why.

Becoming Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is a true food tonic which helps feed the nerves, to increase the energy and gives fresh vigor to the overworked body and mind; many thousands regularly "Get Duffy's and keep well," and are, therefore, true optimists who give no thought to pessimistic beliefs.—ADV.

INDICTMENT FOR PRIVATE BANKER IN JEFFERSON COUNTY

R. B. Munroe of De Soto Accused of Accepting Deposits for Insolvent Institution.

DE SOTO, Mo., Sept. 17.—The grand jury's investigation into the affairs of the Jefferson County Bank here resulted yesterday in the returning of an indictment against R. B. Munroe, assistant cashier.

He is charged, in five counts, with accepting deposits when he knew the bank to be insolvent.

Munroe's father, O. M. Munroe, cashier and chief owner of the bank, died last April, and the bank closed its doors soon afterward. The son had been in charge of the bank's affairs for nearly a year, during his father's illness. After the elder Munroe's death, the bank was closed. It was a private institution.

The younger Munroe insisted that the bank's assets were far in excess of its liabilities, and an inventory bore him out, as to the face value of assets, but it also showed that a large part of the assets was worth much less than face value.

Deposits About $120,000.

The bank's deposits were about $120,000. Those who charged that their deposits were accepted after the bank had become insolvent, in the period following March 22 last, are Mrs. Phillip Blank, $400; Mrs. Ed Mercer, $3045; Gertrude Hohenthal, $600; Miss Kate Miner, $82; Son H. Hohenthal, $1148.

Munroe went to Hillsboro yesterday, on hearing of the indictment, and gave bond in the sum of $6000. The bond was signed by Adrian Steel, attorney; R. B. Jones, cashier of the People's Bank of De Soto; W. J. Knorp, merchant; W. J. Moutte, president of the German-American Bank of De Soto; J. M. Alle, wealthy timber dealer, all of De Soto, and W. R. Donnell Jr., cashier of the Bank of St. Louis.

Joseph L. Hornsby of St. Louis, who is administrator with Munroe's son of the elder Munroe's estate, said here today that he did not believe the charges made in the indictment against the younger Munroe could be sustained. He is a relative of Mrs. Munroe, the banker's widow.

After the banker's death, State Bank Commissioner Mitchell started from Jefferson City to De Soto, to take charge of the bank, but after an interview with Hornsby in St. Louis decided not to take such action at that time.

The Jefferson County Bank was said at that time to consist of 10 private banks remaining in the State, a survival of the former code of banking laws. Under the present laws, private banks, with their assets bound up with the estate of an individual, cannot be chartered.

PRO-GERMAN PAPER THREATENS REVOLT AGAINST PRESIDENT

Calls Him "Self-Sufficient Provincial" for Attacking Handling of Arable and Shipping Cases.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 17.—An editorial today in the Milwaukee Free Press, an English pro-German newspaper, controlled by local German-Americans, makes an open threat to revolt against the President unless there are changes in the manner in which the administration is handling the cases against Germany regarding the seizure of American ships destined to neutral ports. The paper, after declaring that the President's unbending attitude toward Germany should be duplicated in the shipping question, observes:

"Let us hope and pray that at least 50,000,000 of American citizens have had their fill of this kind of neutrality, are through with being led by the nose and expect some stand against Great Britain's increasing encroachment on our rights."

"Let us say, and without reserve, that, unless the self-sufficient provincial in the White House wakes up one of these fine mornings to the realization that he is more than a President of our anglo-maniacs, that he is in reality a President of the American people, he will live to discover a situation in this country that will make him go down in American history as the arch-disruptionist of the noblest nation that was ever given a glorious opportunity on the footstool of the universe."

HEAD OF RUSSIAN INQUIRY WORK SAID TO HAVE BEEN GERMAN SPY

LONDON, Sept. 17.—A prominent Russian, who is here in connection with war contracts for his Government, stated today that a man who had been at the head of the Russian special investigation service, entrusted with the work of discovering German spies in Russia, had been found to be a German spy.

He had been known to the Russian court for years. He was convicted of having betrayed the weak points of the Russian war preparations to the very Germans he was expected to arrest.

His execution followed immediately.

RECOVERS RING BY WANT AD

A newspaper want ad, inserted in yesterday's afternoon paper, led to the quick recovery of a lost $600 diamond ring by Miss Dorothy Danforth of 17 Kingsbury place. A man who said he had found the ring went to the Danforth home and returned it last night. Miss Danforth lost the ring while on her way to a theater in the family automobile Wednesday night. She missed it when she alighted from the machine and believed it had dropped from her finger in the street.

An automobile owned by Miss Danforth's father, William H. Danforth, and driven by a negro chauffeur, ran down and killed Clarence Howard, 14 years old, of 5812 Ridge avenue, near Goodfellow and Bartmer avenues, Wednesday afternoon.

CONGRESS WILL BE ASKED TO SAVE BONHOMME BOTTOM

Thousands Petitions Being Circulated Asking for Appropriation From Government.

A thousand petitions were circulated this morning by F. E. Muller, a Clayton lawyer, for signatures requesting Congressmen Marker to use his influence to have the Government take measures to prevent the washing away of Bonhomme Bottom, about 18 miles west of St. Louis. The petition states that 1000 acres of land have been washed away within the last four years and that 5000 acres are now in danger.

Land in this district is valued at about $200 an acre. Congressman Meeker, upon a recent visit to the district, said he would try to secure an appropriation for protection of the land and suggested that he would be assisted if backed by a widely circulated petition.

BRITISH NAVY BARGING IN NORTH SEA, SAYS VICE ADMIRAL BEATTY

Sir David Says Men on the Ships, "Missing Mines and Dodging Submarines" Are Disturbing the North Sea. LONDON, Sept. 17.—"Barging about the North Sea" was a phrase used by Vice Admiral Sir Edward Beatty, commander of the first battle cruiser squadron, in commenting cheerfully on the men whose operations are confined to "missing mines and dodging submarines" in a speech at the opening of the Naval Institute.

"More than a year ago" said the Vice Admiral, "we started the war with the navy with a whoop of joy. We started full of promise of what we were about to do, but the promise has fallen away."

Sir David said it was galling to the men to have to read in the newspapers of the glorious deeds of their fellows over the world while they were unable themselves to meet the enemy.

MILK FUND NEEDS
TO BE INCREASED
TO $4000 TOTAL

This sum required if all babies suffering from lack of pure food are cared for.

The situation confronting the St. Louis Pure Milk Commission is serious. That fact was stated to the Post-Dispatch today by Secretary Mortland.

The commission has no support other than that which comes from the benevolent impulse of the city. There are regular and, in part, dependable subscriptions, but these naturally are affected by the nature of business conditions. This year those conditions have not been such that these private contributions could be maintained in the usual volume. Secretary Mortland states that for the current season they are about 50 per cent below those of last year.

From the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice League the commission has been obtaining from $200 to $300 a year.
At this time there remains to be raised for this Fund, in order to equal that of last year, about $300. To attain this mark there are only about four weeks, as the campaign closes about the middle of October, or when cold weather becomes the rule.

Health of Babies in Balance.
Should the Pure Milk and Free Ice
Fund fail to provide the amount actually required in the succoring of the babies oppressed by heat and the ill-ments which attend that sort of weather, the result cannot fail to prove disastrous to the infants. There is not sufficient money now in the Fund to pay the milk and ice bill for the current month, and October also is to be taken into account as a period largely dependent upon the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice League. It is a month during most of which there is heavy demand for those articles in the homes of the very poor in which are babies.

The children of St. Louis, to whom hundreds of little ones owe their escape from death during the periods particularly trying upon them, are fully mindful of the serious condition prevailing and are going to do all that can be made practicable, but they are no longer free to employ their time as pleases them, owing to attendance upon school, and campaigning under the heat of things is difficult. Efforts are being made by many of them to turn Saturday afternoons into a day of direction for the next few weeks and from this it is hoped to lift the Fund built up by the children to $400. That would go a long way toward solving the problem of the Pure Milk Commission, but an additional $500, or $600 total, would better insure completion of the work devolving upon the commission and the King's Daughters' Circle engaged in furnishing highly essential ice to those receiving the pure milk.

9000 Goal Can Be Reached.
In view of the falling away of the subscriptions upon which the Milk Commission depends for its benevolent work the aid drawn from the Pure Milk and Free Ice League were to be well within actual requirements were it not to reach $4000. A chance to succeed in this sum remains if the girls and boys will make special effort the next few weeks. If the older people who feel that nothing should be left undone to combat the ravages of heat among the poor babies lend a hand, and the Roberson travelers at the Odeon are attended in a measure at all commensurate with their merit.

Illinois State Fair Is Opened.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 17.—The Illinois State Fair opened here today and,
despite the barring of exhibits of cattle, sheep and swine, the attendance is expected to be large. One of the features will be a better babies contest under the supervision of the State Board of Health.

Three Convicts Escape at Joliet.
JOLIET, Ill., Sept. 17.—Three convicts escaped from the Illinois Penitentiary quarry last night. They were Clarence Brown, Chicago, serving a third term;
James O'Neill, Chicago, serving a third term for burglary, and Joe Scutti, serving a 20-year sentence for murder in

La Salle County. Three weeks ago three life-term men escaped in the Warren's automobile. Brown was found in the prison quarry today.

GIRL JILTS NAVY
OFFICER, ELOPES WITH SALESMAN

Invitations Had Been Sent Out and Bridesmaids' Gowns Made for Kansas Wedding.

Special to the Post-Dispatch
KANSAS CITY, Sept. 17.—The marriage of Lieut. Edward Kimberley Lang of the United States navy and Miss Josephine Smith will not take place in the First M. E. Church here Sept. 23, as stated in the wedding invitations, which were mailed last week. Yesterday
Miss Smith was married at Oklahoma City, Ok., to Grier Stewart, a traveling salesman, son the Rev. D. H.
Stewart, pastor of the Presbyterian Church here.

Lieut. Lang was to have brought a friend in the navy to act as best man.
All of the gowns for the bridesmaids were to have been alike; in fact, they had been made. The flower girls and the ring bearers came from Massachusetts and Chicago were here ready to take part in what was expected to be one of the most notable social affairs ever given in Wellington.

Miss Smith was born here 21 years ago. H. F. Smith, her father, is wealthy and their home is one of the finest in town. Her mother is a social leader.

Lieut. Lang also was born here and he and Miss Smith were children together, but the Langes moved to Burlington, Iowa, 14 years ago. Grier Stewart came here 11 years ago. From the first he and Miss Smith were friends, and when the report came that Miss Smith was to be married it was granted that it would be Stewart.

Miss Ann Blair of Massachusetts, who came to be a bridesmaid, went to Oklahoma yesterday with Miss Smith and attended the wedding.

CONQUEROR OF PEGOUDE TELLS OF KILLING AVIATOR IN AIR

German Pilot in Letter to Father Describes Battle With Frenchman at Height of 8000 Feet.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 17.—The story of the death, fight of Adolphe Pegoud, the French aviator, who was killed recently near Fette Croix, in a battle in the air with a German aviator, is related by Pilot Captain Kamulski, his conqueror, in a letter to his father, which is published in the Tagesschalt.

"While flying," says the letter, "the forts of Belfort opened fire against me, the shrapnel bursting around me in the clouds. I was hardly out of range of the enemy's guns when suddenly a French machine approached. The fighting took place at a height of 3600 meters (about 11,000 feet). The first thing I did was to swing sharply around in order to obtain a free range to the flank. My observer, Lieut. Billits, immediately fired the machine gun, which, after the third round, did not refuse to work."

"Meanwhile Pegoud had reached to 80 meters. I encircled him once and suddenly executed a sharp curve to the left, whereby I got him on the flank, and Billits, whose machine gun again was in order, gave him his rest."

Former President Dies.
MARQUETTE, Mich., Sept. 17.—William F. Fitch, former president and general manager of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Railroad, died here last night. He was 75 years old.

GREATER BARGAINS AND FRACTIONAL PRICES FOR THE FINAL SWEEPING CLEAN-UP

Now for a final, decisive wind-up of the greatest clean-up event St. Louis has known in years. Great shipments of new Fall and Winter Suits and Overcoats are crowding us for room, and for that reason our efforts have been redoubled in a last bargain-giving drive that knows no precedent. Quantities of small lots have been regrouped into lower-priced ranges, making selections more complete and the saving advantages even greater. A point of paramount importance is that 85% of the clothing on sale is suitable in style, color and weight for wear during the entire Fall season. Greater economies than ever can be effected by those who take immediate advantage—come and investigate tomorrow.

KILLED IN PARACHUTE LEAP
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 17.—Charles G. Green, known as "Daredevil Green," was killed in making a parachute leap at a street fair at Cowgill, Mo., yesterday afternoon. He fell 3000 feet, but lived an hour and a half. There were no broken bones. A physician thought he had died from a lesion of the spinal cord. He was about 45 years old. A crowd of nearly 1000 saw the accident.

What to Eat
In Hot Weather

MEATS, heavy foods should be eaten very sparingly during hot weather. Faust Spaghetti ought to be indulged in during summer. It does not heat, is very easy to digest, and is also extremely nutritious. It contains the rich gluten of Durum wheat—blood enricher and muscle builder. Write for free recipe book showing many ways that Faust Spaghetti can be prepared to make delicious eating.

40 MEN HAVE WON HIGHEST ORDER IN GIFT OF KAISER

Many Who Have Received Order
Pour le Merite Virtually Unknown Before War.

Correspondence of the Associated Press. BERLIN, Aug. 30.—Forty prominent figures in the present war, ranging from Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria to the commandant of a German submarine, had been, up to Aug. 1, decorated with the order pour le merite, the highest military service medal within the gift of the German Emperor. Eight of the 40 have received the additional gold oak leaves with which the order is sometimes decorated as a mark of special favor.

The order is 175 years old, but it has only been since 1910 that it has been conferred exclusively for extraordinary service in war. King Frederick William III, that year, stipulated that he could not award it for any other cause, and thus years later created the oak leaf complement to the order.

The names of those who have earned the pour le merite in the present war are almost without exception known all over the world now, though many of them, probably the majority, had never been heard of before the present conflict began. Many were not even known in Germany. Here is the list:

Emperor Francis-Joseph, Gen. von Ermisch, Gen. Field Marshal von Hindenburg, Gen. von Zehwitz, Lieut. von der Linde, Gen. von Beseler, Gen. von Quast, Lieutenant-General Ludendorff, Capt. Otto Weddigen, Colonel General Mackensen, Gen. Litman, Gen. Schafft, Major-General von Hindenburg, Gen. von Morgen, Gen. von Mudra, Gen. von Falkenhayn, Gen. von Below, Lieutenant-General Kosch, Gen. von der Marwitz, Col-General von Einem, Gen. Riemann, Gen. Fleck, Prince Eitel Friedrich, Gen. Field Marshal von Buelow, Colonel-General von Kluck, Archduke Frederick of Austria, Gen. Conrad von Hoeschendorff, Major-General von Seest, Gen. von Linsingen, Gen. von Francois, Archduke of Saxony-Altenburg, Gen. von Plettenberg, Lieutenant-General von Kreusel, Capt. Kersing, Major-General von Zieten, Gen. von Bothmer, Gen. von Gerok, Gen. von Stolzmann, Gen. von Gallwitz and Gen. von Claer.

The extra oak leaves have been conferred on Hindenburg, Beseler, Mackensen, Einrich, Falkenhayn, Marwitz, Linning and Ludendorff.

Park Commission Cuniff Sends Them to Hotels.

Permits to the free golf links in Forest Park have been sent by Park Commissioner Cuniff to the hotels of St. Louis to be issued to visitors. The permits are good for one day. Commissioner Cuniff said that many visitors to the city during the fall festivities undoubtedly would appreciate the opportunity to play golf on the city links.

The permit will be accepted by the gatekeepers at the links when they are signed by the manager of the hotel issuing them.

Husband Joins Mrs. "Pat" Campbell. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 17.—Strain of preparation and drill in the British training camps, combined with the worry of business matters some two months ago, sent G. Cornwallis-West, husband of Mrs. Patrick Campbell, the actress, home on sick leave. He has joined his wife in Kansas City.

MONG the St. Louisans who have remained abroad in spite of the war and its accompanying discomforts is Mrs. Francis D. Hirschberg, who has been with her sister, Mrs. William Vernon, first in Switzerland, and then in London, where they were until quite recently.

The air raids were becoming dangerous, the Vernons and Mrs. Hirschberg have taken a house in Dorset, at Canford Cliffs, called "Moretonwood."

Mrs. Vernon's sons, William and Dick, are both with the British forces at the front.

Mrs. Vernon and Mrs. Hirschberg are daughters of the late Gen. Daniel Frost of St. Louis.

Mrs. Joseph L. Chambers is again occupying her house at 4959 Berlin avenue, which she let to Mr. and Mrs. Julius S. Walsh Jr., last winter during her absence in California. The Walshes are at Rye, N. Y., where they will remain until late in the autumn.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wainwright Withnell have bought a place at Kinnimishick, Mo., where they have been all summer, and will remain there until winter comes. Their home there was not at their winter home in Pensacola, Fla. Mrs. Withnell's mother and sister, Mrs. Francis L. Haydel and Miss Marie Haydel are with her.

Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Laseem of the Buckingham Hotel returned today after a visit of two months with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hirshhorn, at the latter's home at Irving-on-the-Hudson, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Adams are spending several weeks in New Orleans.

The engagement of Miss Lydia Hoener of 1250 Allan street to Frederick W. Rogers of Portland, Ore., was announced at a meeting of an embroidery club of which the bride-elect is a member. The marriage will take place Oct. 30.

Miss Edna Idler has chosen Oct. 14 for the day of her wedding to J. Carr Gamble. The ceremony will be in the evening at 7:30 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Idler, of 4618 Berlin avenue. Only the near relatives will be present. Afterward there will be a large reception. The bride's sister, Miss Lucille Idler, will be maid of honor and Ross Gamble, the bridegroom's brother, will be best man.

A birthday party for Miss Neva Adams was given at the home of her mother, Mrs. Harry F. Adams, at 202 McPherson avenue, Monday. Among those present were: Misses Adele Mamie, Gertrude Mamie, Katherine Williamson, Loretta Campbell, Virginia Hale and Margaretta Witt.

Mrs. Arthur Johnson of Memphis, Tenn., and her daughters, Misses Virginia and Felecia Johnson, will arrive Sunday to visit Mrs. Johnson's father and sister, James W. Bell and Miss Grace Bell of 5045 Westminster place.

Miss Felecia Johnson, who will make her debut this season in Memphis and here, will go to Port Coburn, Canada, Monday, to visit Charles Pope O'Fallon and her daughter, Miss Elizabeth and Matilda Overton.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Drew of 5136 Washington boulevard have taken an apartment in the Kingsbury, which they will occupy about Nov. 1. The marriage of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Drew, to Dr. Horace E. Happel will take place Oct. 16 at their present residence and will be one of the notable nuptial events of the autumn.

ST. LOUIS HAS PLENTY OF MONEY FOR MOVING CROPS

Federal Reserve Bank Declines McAdoo's Offer to Make Deposit of $15,000,000.

The St. Louis Federal Reserve Bank, owing to the fact that money is plentiful in St. Louis, has declined the offer of Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo to deposit Government funds to aid in moving crops. The Treasury recently deposited $15,000,000 of Government money in the Federal Reserve Banks of Richmond, Atlanta and Dallas, and an offer was made to the St. Louis bank to supply whatever money was needed.

The Kansas City and Minneapolis Federal Reserve Banks also declined the offer on the ground that there was plenty of money in their districts for crop moving purposes. According to a dispatch from Washington today, the answer of the St. Louis bank had not been received by Secretary McAdoo, although it was mailed two days ago.

The replies received by the Secretary of the Treasury indicated that no Government money would be needed in the territory from the Mississippi River to the Rocky Mountains, north of Texas. The banks in that territory are full of money. The Federal Reserve Board has approved a 3 per cent commodity rate for the Federal Reserve Bank at St. Louis, and other points, so that 6 per cent money may be provided for moving the crops. This rate will apply only in the event that the original loan, with commissions, does not exceed 6 per cent.

MAN KILLED, WIFE BADLY HURT

Infant in Buggy Hit by Train in Illinois Is Not Injured.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 7.—Oscar Burge, 48 years old, was killed and his wife probably fatally hurt, when a Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton passenger train hit the buggy in which the couple were riding, near midnight, last night.

A four-months' old infant in the buggy was not injured.

WOMAN SAYS MAN SHOT AT HERHe Is Arrested After Roomer Chase

A shot fired at 2:15 o'clock this morning, in a room occupied by Mrs. Mrs. Sparling, 22 years old, at the rooming house of Mrs. Mary McCar, 421 Lindell avenue, attracted police men, who, on arriving there, saw Mrs. Sparling and other roomers chasing a man in the street.

The man said he was John W. Simons, 20 years old, 214 Olive street.

Mrs. Sparling said that he had been visiting her and in a quarrel had fired at her and then struck her on the shoulder with a revolver. A revolver was found in her room. All occupants of the house, including the proprietor, were taken to the Laclede Avenue Station. After being questioned, all were released. Simons was held for the Circuit Attorney.

MOTORS COMPANY DECLARES DIVIDEND OF 50 PER CENT

Stock Which Sold at 37½ at Outbreak of War Goes to 266 on New York Stock Exchange.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The General Motors Co., which has done a large war business in automobiles and motor trucks, whose stock has been second only to that of Bethlehem Steel in the speculation in the war shares, has declared a cash dividend of 50 per cent, being $50 per share on the common stock.

The dividend was not announced until last night, following a meeting of directors and leading stockholders, who had been in session at the Hotel Belmont since 2 o'clock in the afternoon. In expectation of favorable action, at the meeting, the stock sold at 266 in the late trading on the Stock Exchange, though never before had a dividend been paid on the common stock. It sold at 27½ just before the outbreak of the war.

The dividend is the largest declared on any of the war shares, and is believed to be the largest initial cash dividend ever declared on a stock listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Dividends Reorganized.
The meeting also brought about a reorganization of the directorate in the selection of a ticket to be voted at the annual meeting, Nov. 16. The ticket shows the entrance into the company of 10 men prominently connected with other companies, which have done a huge business in war contracts.

The personnel of the nominees shows a great change in the stockholdings of the company in the last year. None of the new names had previously been known in connection with the company.

$14,326,000 Net Profit.
The annual report which was presented and discussed before the declaration of the dividend showed net profits of $14,326,000 for the year ended July 31 last, compared with $7,947,000 in the previous year.

After the payment of interest and dividends on the 7 per cent preferred stock, there were left in undivided profits $13,409,000, against $5,201,000 at the end of the previous year. The common stock dividend calls for a payment of $3,253,000, so with that taken from last year's earnings there would remain a surplus of $5,366,000.

The company controls the following motor car manufacturing companies: Buick, Cadillac, Cartercar, Champion Ignition, General Motors Limited, of London; General Motors Export Co.; General Motors Truck Co.; Jackson, Czech Wilcox, McLaughlin, Northway, Oakland, Olds and Weston-Mott.

C. W. Nash, president of the General Motors Co., in a statement today said: "General Motors has not sold one dollar's worth of war material from any of its plants in the United States. The English company has sold something like 250 automobiles to be used for Red Cross ambulances. The policy of the company has been to build up home business, not to cater to war orders."

"OLD SETTLERS'" DAY OBSERVED AT ST. LOUIS COUNTY FAIR

Cane Presented to Oldest Man on Grounds—Racing in Progress This Afternoon.

"Old Settlers' day" was observed today at the sixteenth annual St. Louis County Fair at Upped Creve Coeur Lake, where a three-day exhibition was opened yesterday. A gold-headed cane was presented to the oldest man on the grounds.

Judge William D. Pfeister of Olive street road, president of the Old Settlers' Association, has active charge of the entertainment features.

The racing program was started this afternoon, with a number of county horses entered in the 2:30 and 3:00 races. August A. Busch Jr. entered in several races, and also handled a six-mile team in the pace makers. Henry Helmemann, treasurer of the fair, supervised the contests.

Former attendants say that the exhibition of orchard, garden and farm products is the best in the history of the fair. Young girls act as guides in the fine arts, textile fabrics, and manufactured exhibits.

Helmemann has exhibited several specimens of zinc ore discovered on a farm near Chesterfield. It is said that assays show the ore to be fine quality. Shuttle trains are operated by the Missouri Pacific from the Union Station to the grounds. Special boat facilities have been provided to carry persons across the lake from the Creve Coeur street car line.

MAN GOES OVER NIAGARA FALLS

Papers Bearing Name of Missing Buffalo Resident Found on Bank.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Park Guards saw a man leap from Prospect Point into the Niagara River and go over the American falls yesterday. In the pocket of a coat left near the scene were found papers bearing the name of Hugo Wehmeyer of Buffalo.

Wehmeyer, who was associated with the management of Buffalo, and Niagara Falls, cafes, is missing.

STEAMER SANT' ANNA IN PORT

'BRITISH' OFFICER IN U.S. SUSPECTED OF BEING GERMAN SPY

New York Army and Navy Club investigating 'Capt. Newenham A. Gray of India.'

HANDLING ALLIES' ORDERS

Said to Have Watched Tests of American Howitzers; Office Near German Attaché's.

By LORNA WILSON FOR THE NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE POST-DISPATCH

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—The American says that the Army and Navy Club of this city, whose membership includes some of the most prominent military men of the United States, began an investigation last night to determine whether Capt. Newenham A. Gray, who has lived at the club as a British army officer for the last eight months, is in fact a German spy. The club's action is said to have been precipitated by charges made by British agents with the Washington administration.

The British are said to declare that Capt. Gray's boast of being an officer in the Indian service of Great Britain is disproved by an inspection of the army rolls. Instead of being an Englishman, he is said to be a Krupp expert, and to be obtaining confidential information concerning the manufacture here of arms and ammunition for the allies.

The inquiry instituted by the Army and Navy Club is not so much to learn if Capt. Gray is revealing to the Germans the war secrets of the allies, it is said, but to ascertain whether he may have used the friendship of the club to discover intimate facts concerning the United States army and navy.

Makes Club His Home.

An investigator, whose report is said to be in the possession of the British Consulate of this city and the United States secret service, is quoted by the American as having made the following statements to a reporter yesterday concerning Capt. Gray:

"Nearly a year ago British agents discovered in New York a Capt. Newenham A. Gray, who asserted he had been a British officer in India. He sought the acquaintanceship of American army officers, and the kindness of members of the Army and Navy Club, he obtained a room there, and has since made the club his home."

"By means of the club's hospitality he has been able to meet many high officials in the United States army and navy. He has been their guests on many occasions. For example, he attended the recent tests of howitzers at Fort Totten.

"The British, however, did not become especially interested in Capt. Gray until it was discovered he had become an ordnance expert for various American concerns who were negotiating with England for war supplies.

"It then became known that he was drawing plans and specifications for rifles, hand grenades and large artillery pieces, and in this way coming into close and intimate contact with the British, French and Italian agents who are buying arms and ammunition in this country."

Net on the Army Rolls.

"The British Government therefore decided to act. The War Office in London was instructed to search the rolls of the British army in India to determine when and where Capt. Gray was in service. The reply came back that the rolls contained no such name; nor was there any other record of such a man.

"Shortly after this, Capt. Gray took office in room 801, No. 11 Broadway. On this same floor, only a few doors away, are the offices of Capt. Boy-Ed, the naval attaché of the German embassy, who, Richard P. Steiger, the confessed spy, was said to be the head of the German secret service in the United States.

"Another British agent was then called into the case, who poses as a German at the German Club. He reported that Capt. Gray was known to certain German officials who make up their headquarters.

"This and other information were then turned over to the Washington authorities, with the result that the United States secret service men are now working on the case."

Members of the Army and Navy Club decline to discuss Capt. Gray until the club's investigation of its mysterious guest is complete. Col. Oliver B. Bridgeman, president of the club, is quoted as saying:

"We are talking this matter over, but that is all I care to say now."

Didn't Understand Him.

Privately, however, one member is quoted:

"Capt. Gray was never understood by any of us. At the request of one member, the Captain was given a card entitling him to all the privileges of the club.

"He made friends rapidly and impressed all whom he met with his astonishing knowledge of ordnance and ballistics.

"His knowledge of the science of ballistics, the manufacture and use of projectiles, finally prompted me to ask where he could have learned it all.

"You never picked all that up in India," I said.

"No," he replied. "You know, I have been to Woolwich, the great artillery school of England." He then took up the West Point curriculum and compared the course of the two schools. His intimate knowledge amazed me."

By another member, Capt. Gray is said to have stated that he was a graduate of Woolwich, in the class of 1897.

"Investigated," this member of the club is quoted as saying, "and I did not find the name of Newenham A. Gray in the class of 1897 or any other class."

A third member is declared to have said to a reporter:

"Capt. Gray not only knew the science of ballistics with a thoroughness that would shame the ordinary American, but he knew how to put his knowledge to most practical use. He has been up to his neck in war contract work for the allies, and if it should be found he was a German agent, there is not much British and Italian business here which Gray does not know."

One war contract of which Capt. Gray is said to have told several United States army men provided for 500,000 Enfield rifles for the British Government. One night Capt. Gray exhibited an Enfield, and, according to a number of members, remarked:

"Well, I put that Enfield order through. The whole order was for 500,000 rifles."

Later he is said to have told that the company that was handling the order was the Hopkins-Albin Co. of Boston.

Capt. Gray's alleged connection with Krupps is said to have been unearthed by investigators who visited the various ammunition brokers in New York with whom the Captain had had dealings. Before the war, it was discovered, it is declared that Capt. Gray had boasted of his connection with the great German artillery house. From one prominent Wall street financier, of whom Capt. Gray had sought employment, the following statement was obtained yesterday by a reporter:

Has a German Accent.

"I never could believe Gray was an Englishman. He may have a British flag hung up in his room at the Army and Navy Club, but his German accent and German manner of constructing sentences always struck me as strange."

The sketch of his life which Capt. Gray gave this financier makes no mention of Woolwich. It was prepared July 10, 1914, before the European war, and tells of many years of activity in Mexico. At one time, the Captain says, he was an artillery expert for Huerta, and represented both German and French ordnance firms in negotiating for the sale of war supplies.

Capt. Gray was interviewed by a reporter in Room 801, 11 Broadway. He was busily drawing the cross-section of a 15-inch shrapnel shell. A messenger boy was just departing with another roll of drawings. The Captain said:

"I am not a German spy. It is a lie. I don't see why I should be bothered I am simply trying to earn my living. I am only a consulting engineer."

The British authorities say you are not a British Captain," said the reporter. "They say they cannot find your name on the rolls of the British army in India."

"That may be because I dropped one-half my name when I left India. My old name was hyphenated. I dropped the last half."

Designs a Hand Grenade.

"But let me tell you this: I am simply working for Americans or anybody else who wants to make war supplies for the allies. They compensated me to make the drawings. I understand the work well. I have made it a life study."

"Here is a hand grenade which I am designing for the Safe Cabinet Co. of Marietta, O. We expected to have some tests on States Island within a few days."

"You see how I have drawn the cross-section of the hand grenade. Here is the fuse. Here is where the explosive is placed."

"It is also a part of my work to figure out just how much powder is needed in all these various kinds of ordnance. I figure it out to the grain."

"What was the cause of those premature explosions of fuses recently which caused such loss of life among the British?" asked the reporter. The Captain did not answer, but continued:

"I want nothing said about myself. Some people will think I am a German spy. They will not understand. I tell you I am an Englishman and can prove it."

The British consulate issued this statement: "The British army rolls do not contain the name of Capt. Newenham A. Gray. This man is not an English officer."

DRUG CLERK DRINKS POISON

Try to End Life After Wife Files Divorce Petition.

Clifton T. Broom, 30 years old, a drug clerk, drank laudanum last night in his room at 1129 Graham street. His wife, Mrs. Amelia Bloom, who lives with her two children at 4952A Lacledene avenue, fled suit for divorce Wednesday, alleging that her husband had failed properly to provide for his family.

Bloom was taken to the city hospital in a serious condition. He said family trouble had caused his illness. In his pockets were found a copy of his wife's divorce petition and typewritten copies of poems entitled "War Babies" and "A Dreamer's Lament."

STOP SCALP ITCH AND FALLING HAIR

People whose hair looks dull and lifeless and who find it growing dry, brittle, splitting at ends and coming out fast at every combing need a genuine scalp invigorator and should get one without a day's delay. A little Parisian Sage rubbed briskly into the scalp with the finger tips twice daily will work wonders for hair of this kind. Just a few days' use and the hair becomes glossy and healthy looking, dandruff vanishes, scalp stops itching and hair stops falling out. Parisian Sage is more than a hair tonic. It is a scalp treatment and its use means strong, beautiful hair and a healthy scalp. Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., and leading druggists everywhere sell Parisian Sage. It is not expensive.

"No," he replied. "You know, I have been to Woolwich, the great artillery school of England." He then took up the West Point curriculum and compared the course of the two schools. His intimate knowledge amazed me."

Good For CASH or MERCHANDISE

Our remarkable profit-sharing plan is now in force. Since our announcement of this plan in recent issues of the daily papers hundreds of housewives have availed themselves of the opportunity it gives to share liberally and actually in the profit on every purchase of Belle Springs Butter they make.

Now you have an additional reason for buying Belle Springs Butter. You have first of all, of course, the basic reason of quality. It is the quality of this superfine butter that brought our sales to such a volume that we can afford to share our profits with each and every purchaser of this superb butter. Here is where you are rewarded for being a quality buyer. The actual cash saving you now make on every purchase of Belle Springs Butter is sufficiently large to offset the necessity of buying an inferior brand on account of price.

One Cent On Every Pound 1/4 Cent On Every 1/4 Pound

Hereafter, one side of every pound carton of Belle Springs Butter represents a coupon good for one cent; and on the wrapper of the quarter pound package is printed a coupon good for one-quarter cent. You can exchange these coupons at your grocer's either for cash or merchandise. No worthless or useless premiums will be given. You can get real money for your coupons or you can buy groceries with them.

If you go to your grocer with any number of these coupons, say 5 for instance, he will give you a nickel for them or he will give you 5c worth of goods for them. They are just the same as actual cash money to him—and for you.

Insist On Belle Springs

Put up in Pound and Quarter Pound Packages

Insist on it because it is "the one perfect butter." Churned from the richest pasteurized cream of selected, especially-cared-for Holsteins. Every phase of the churning carried on under the most perfect, sanitary and hygienic conditions that even more than meet the exacting dairy laws of Kansas. Insist on Belle Springs Butter because it means actual cash in your pocket to do so. You not only get the best in quality but you share in the profits of the business, which your insistence on quality makes possible. Do not accept any other brand. Do not let any dealer tell you that he has a butter "just as good." If Belle Springs were not the exceptionally fine butter that it is, if it were not the best, if it did not satisfy everybody who ever tried it, we could not build up a business of such proportions that enables us to make this remarkable profit-sharing plan.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Letter for the Storm Damage.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Noting in your issue of yesterday the statements of one or two tornado insurance agents about the recent hurricane damage, we will say that they are in harmony with all the rest of the agents for this class of insurance.

If the Supreme Court of New York or Missouri made rulings such as stated it must have been in isolated cases. Such a ruling would not hold good for the recent trouble in St. Louis. To say that practically every brick house in St. Louis has defective walls is silly. This includes the insurance agents' own walls and we don't think they will admit this. The worst damage I think in new houses, the brick laid in the last brick-layers in the city by the way, was not remaining intact thereafter proving conclusively that the rain was driven through the walls by the peculiar wind associated with tornadoes and hurricanes.

The people of St. Louis are waking up to the fact that they have been visited by a catastrophe second only to the tornado of 1896. While the largest damages were shown immediately after the hurricane a great many walls are only beginning to show the damage and this applies to nearly every brick house in the city. Whether the damage will stop with nasty stains to wall paper and mold in plaster that can afterwards be scraped is a question. It is very probable that a large part of the plastering will rot and fall out later. Whole fronts of houses have been stained white with washed-out mortar and will have to be pointed. If this isn't an actual damage to walls by the direct force of the wind we might just as well tear up our tornado policies and give them agents the cold shoulder of future business.

What is the theory of tornado policies? It is protection against damage caused by extreme storms. Do we have to have a chimney blown down or a hole blown in our wall? How often does a storm blow a hole in a wall? If we waited for this it would be too much "velvet" for the aforesaid agents.

There is a grand opportunity for some fighting lawyer now, with brains, to bring to a focus the complaints of thousands of St. Louis property owners who are waiting for a leader to bring these tornado insurance people to the bar of equity and out from behind their wall of technicalities.

S. R. CUNNINGHAM.

Insurance Against Auto Accidents.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
When auto licenses are issued there should be an ordinance requiring the owner or driver to at the same time take out an insurance policy covering damages to property and injury to persons. Many autoists are execution proof, hence careless, and the injured public have no redress.

JOHN H. MACCARTHY.

Parking' Automobiles.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
The paper the latter part of last week contained an article to the effect that an ordinance was to be passed prohibiting autos to stand on the streets for more than an hour. Now it is evident that some arrangement should be inaugurated so that this congestion on the principal thoroughfares will be relieved, but why not set aside a part of the "one-way" streets as well as Fourth and Twelfth streets for parking purposes. Take Seventh street, for instance, one-third of the street could easily be used for parking machines—the same could be said of Eighth, Ninth and Tenth streets. I have talked with and have been advised that this would work capitally by a number of members of the traffic squad. Fourth and Twelfth streets would not accommodate one-quarter of the machines left downtown all day by their owners who drive them down in the morning and home in the evening. Let the Police Board and Street Commission consider the suggestion made herein.

MOTONIST.

The Anti-Spitting Ordinance.
Five years ago, when I first became a resident of St. Louis, the anti-spitting ordinance was the best enforced ordinance in the city.

I remember one afternoon taking a patrol wagon go by with officers taken up after five minutes of vigorous by the police at Broadway and Olive. In the wagon was a prominent clergyman who worked as a lawyer and other leading citizens who had unwittingly forgotten there was such an ordinance. Hardly a day passed that one could not read where spitters were being fined by the police judges.

A half-hour's observance downtown now will show sidewalks covered with expectoration, and nothing is thought of it.

If this ordinance was a good one five years ago why shouldn't it be a good one now?

GEORGE PRIDE.

DR. HEXAMER'S FOLLY.

The protest of Dr. Hexamer, president of the German-American Alliance, against the French-British loan, because "England has swept our commerce off the sea," would have more force if Germany had not sent American citizens to the bottom of the ocean.

Nothing could be more ridiculous than Dr. Hexamer's denunciation of the loan as a sinister plot of the Money Trust to involve us in war as an ally of England and to rob the American people of their savings deposited in the banks. His appeal to patriotism to stop it is childish.

Germany, by her lawless submarine warfare and her contemptuous disregard of American rights and American lives on the sea has done more to drive us into the war as an ally of England than all the allied enemies of Germany combined. The German Government has driven us to the verge of war, the issue still being decided in the balance, on account of Germany's unfriendly conduct.

Germany has gone beyond repeated offenses on the seas; she has fomented strife and conspiracy within our own borders and has tried to control our politics.

The question of making the French-British loan is solely one of interest. The paramount consideration is American welfare. Is it a safe loan? Is it advantageous from the standpoint of trade? Would it contribute to American prosperity?

The essential consideration with American financiers in determining the question of advantage in negotiating the loan is credit for American purchases. It will establish a credit fund for the purchase of American commodities without flooding the country with gold. It is a matter of business. Instead of paying cash, France and England ask credit backed by national guarantee.

The loan insures the purchase of American products without disturbing money balances.

Now who is the more patriotic—the bankers who are arranging the loan to insure the continuation of profitable American trade abroad and the stability of finances, or Dr. Hexamer, who urges the withdrawal of money from the banks and the menace of a panic to prevent the loan and the realization of its benefits, in order that Germany may profit? What sort of patriotism is it to which he appeals—patriotism that would sacrifice American welfare to German interest?

Did he appeal to American patriotism to stop the German loan as a conspiracy to thrust us into war as an ally of Germany?

Spades are trumps in the European war game.

SAFETY FIRST.

Commenting on the appalling record of auto accidents, Chief Young was right in saying that more care is needed on the part of both drivers and pedestrians. Accidents are due to the recklessness of auto drivers and the carelessness of pedestrians and drivers of horse vehicles.

Proof of recklessness on the part of auto drivers should be followed by punishment. This will help, but the permanent remedy is regulation and care. Rules for the regulation of traffic, foot and wheel, are the best preventives of accidents. These rules should be voluntarily obeyed as a safeguard against traffic congestion and accidents, but until the public learns to obey they must be enforced. Regulation of traffic and obedience to sound precautions are requisites to safety. They are the penalties of city growth.

"Safety first" is the slogan.

It devolves upon Britain to show that the Unterseeboote are not in the swim.

A DEAD CIRCLE.

One hundred and fifty undertakers mysteriously met at the Moose Club behind closed doors. No smaller thing is contemplated than the merging of all their business organizations into one combination. Though efficiency is held as being the reason for this move, it will be hard to convince the public that efficiency in this case is not a euphemism for price. They are forming a dead circle.

OSCAR'S ANSWER TO REFORM DEMANDS.

Amnesty for all political prisoners in Russia is said to have been ordered by the Czar. They were believed to number 100,000.

A comparison of two forms of government might accordingly be constructed in this wise:

Persons imprisoned for political offenses in Russia.....100,000

Persons imprisoned for political offenses in America.....0

Political offenses within the Russian definition have not been rare in the United States. Feeling has run high here in late months. The Government of the United States has been viciously denounced. Intrigues against its peace and good order have been promoted. Its executive has been abused, his ability disparaged, his soundest utterances distorted. But for offenses Russia punishes most severely free speech guarantees give immunity in this country.

The United States has not a single political prisoner while Russia has 100,000. Could anything show more plainly the need for more liberal institutions in Russia? The Duma has asked that the representatives of the people be given a larger participation in the public affairs of the nation. The unity and strength which progressive reforms would add to defense in the time of Russia's peril have been pointed out. But Premier Gorennykin is retained in power. The plan for a coalition Cabinet is deferred. As a rebuke the Duma is perpetually prorogued.

The Czar's only answer to the demands for concessions is the amnesty granted to those undergoing political martyrdom. It is a politic and humane move, but what Russia needs is changes that will give permanent immunity for acts now classified as crimes.

PROFESSIONAL BONDSEN'S HARVEST.

The wind that is blowing ill for the aristocrat squad is blowing good for another squad. That is the professional bondsmen's squad. The police can't arrest alleged incendiaries faster than the professional bondsmen can bail them out. The names that appear on the bail bonds are the old familiar names that have been offered for years as sureties in the courts.

With each rearrest on a new charge each alleged aristocrat has to give a new bond. The number of bonds at so much per bond is already so large that there ought to be a pretty penny in it for the professional sureties. A measure of caution will be to see that all of the bonds fulfill legal requirements. Professional bondsmen are often straw bondsmen.

the two countries, and an ironic bit of fate, should England at last be obliged to measure her dignified pounds in the once despised dollar of her rebellious colonies.

LONDON PRIZE COURT CONFISCATION.

About the time Ambassador von Bernstorff announced that submarines would not attack merchant ships unless they attempted to escape or offered resistance, London also announced concessions. The British were to "interfere as little as possible with American trade while yet maintaining any blockade at all." At least that was the way it was put.

Now Judge Samuel T. Evans of the London Prize Court hands down a decision under which millions of dollars' worth of American goods carried in neutral ships is forfeited to the crown.

The principle on which this confiscation is decreed is a cause for more concern than the heavy loss it occasions. The Judge holds that because the neutral countries having land communication with Germany, to which these goods were consigned, were importing much more of American commodities than they were accustomed to import in time of peace, irrefutable evidence is presented that the goods were destined for Germany.

This is the only fact on which the court's conclusion is reached. No evidence is adduced showing that the American shippers of these goods knew that the ultimate destination was Germany. Affirmative proof is in fact, entirely lacking. The ships were captured last November, the settlement of their cases being ever since delayed. That was very early in the war. The presumptions drawn from long-continued and habitual practices that aided our prize courts during the Civil War could not, therefore, be drawn upon in adjudicating the cases.

The doctrine is laid down under such circumstances as to be dangerously subversive of maritime rights. Scandinavia and Holland were accustomed to buy many things from England, from Germany and from Russia after transhipment through Germany. The supply of these things was interrupted at the opening of war and at the same time these neutral countries' own domestic productiveness in many lines was greatly reduced through causes growing out of the war. A large increase in the supply drawn from America was, of course, to be expected.

England, retaining command of the sea, is at present sending herself much more of many things to certain neutral countries than she sent in time of peace. Is it because she wishes to reap the fruits of an enlargement of her own trade that she enforces a principle against our shippers that she does not enforce against her own?

Is it because she wishes to reap the fruits of an enlargement of her own trade that she enforces a principle against our shippers that she does not enforce against her own?

It seems to be a decision under London prize ring rather than prize court rules. How were American shippers to know last November the exact percentage by which neutral countries were increasing their wartime imports as compared with imports in time of peace?

If the poultry page of the city daily is what has run the value of the American egg crop up to $700,000,000 a year, urban journalism will surely crackle.

WHERE THEY NEED THEIR PREACHERS.

They take good care of their preachers in Arkansas—where they evidently need all they have as we gather from Editor Hall's account in the Salem Sun:

Scarcely the conventional Baptist crossing of the Jordan—but that is beside the point.

Big Bill Maguffee is a hero for your whiskers. Just after the recent flood he carried Parson McKinney of the Baptist Advance across the swirling waters of the Myatty on his back. Now every Baptist he meets will draw his bottle on him.

We commend Bill Maguffee's high-water heroism, but we can't help wondering what would happen to a temperance reformer under the same conditions.

the whole Plattsburg idea is dead. There seemed no reason for drilling after the prospect of going to war with Germany passed, and we were all very glad to quit. There is nothing in it. It is just as everybody has said: Soldiers are not to be made in a day, and such a camp as that at Plattsburg cannot be said to have any military significance.

It may have something to do with one's health, but that is all. On the last day we were there they asked me to speak, and I was glad to tell them what I think about it. SELF-PITY AND THE PITY OF IT.

From the Bloomberg Journal.

Self-pity is indulged in by most men. Some more, some less. The human mind is so constituted that under certain conditions it strives to turn up itself and abuse it. Liability for the Storm Damage.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Noting in your issue of yesterday the statements of one or two tornado insurance agents about the recent hurricane damage, we will say that they are in harmony with all the rest of the agents for this class of insurance.

If the Supreme Court of New York or Missouri made rulings such as stated it must have been in isolated cases. Such a ruling would not hold good for the recent trouble in St. Louis. To say that practically every brick house in St. Louis has defective walls is silly. This includes the insurance agents' own walls and we don't think they will admit this. The worst damage was done on new houses, the brick laid by the best bricklayers in the city and the new mortar remaining intact after being thrown completely into the air by the force of the wind we might just as well tear up our tornado policies and give these agents the cold shoulder in future.

The people of St. Louis are waking up to the fact that they have been visited by a catastrophe second only to the tornado of 1896. While the largest damages were shown immediately after the hurricane a great many walls are only beginning to show the damage and this applies to nearly every brick house in the city. Whether the damage will stop with nasty stains to wall paper and mold in plaster that can afterwards be scraped is a question. It is very probable that a large part of the plastering will rot and fall out later. Whole fronts of houses have been stained white with washed-out mortar and will have to be pointed. If this isn't an actual damage to walls by the direct force of the wind we might just as well tear up our tornado policies and give these agents the cold shoulder in future.

What is the theory of tornado policies? It is protection against damage caused by extreme weather. Do we have to have a chimney blown down or a hole blown in our wall? How often does a storm blow a hole in a wall? If we waited for this it would be too much "velvet" for the aforesaid agents.

There is a grand opportunity for some fighting lawyer now, with brains, to bring to a focus the complaints of thousands of St. Louis property owners who are waiting for a leader to bring these tornado insurance people to the bar of equity and out from behind their wall of technicalities.

Insurance Against Auto Accidents.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
When auto licenses are issued there should be an ordinance requiring the owner or driver to at the same time take out an insurance policy covering damages to property and injury to persons. Many autoists are execution proof, hence careless, and the injured public have no redress.

JOHN H. MACCARTHY.

Parking Automobiles.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
The papers the latter part of last week contained an article to the effect that an ordinance was to be passed prohibiting autos to stand on the streets for more than an hour. Now it is evident that some arrangement should be inaugurated so that the congestion on the principal thoroughfares will be relieved, but why not set aside a part of the "one-way" streets as well as Fourth and Twelfth streets for parking purposes. Take Seventh street, for instance, one-third of the street could easily be used for parking machines—the same could be said of Eighth, Ninth and Tenth streets. I have talked with and been advised that this would work capitalistically by a number of members of the traffic squad. Fourth and Twelfth streets would not accommodate one-quarter of the machines left downtown all day by their owners who drive them down in the morning and home in the evening. Let the Police Board and Street Commissioner consider the suggestion made herein. MOTORIST.

The Anti-Spitting Ordinance.

Five years ago, when I first became a resident of St. Louis, the anti-spitting ordinance was the best enforced ordinance in the city.

I remember one afternoon seeing a patrol wagon go by with offenders taken up after five minutes of vigilance by the police at Broadway and Olive. In the wagon was a prominent clergyman, a doctor, a lawyer and other leading citizens who had unwittingly forgotten there was such an ordinance. Hardly a day passed that one could not read where spitters were being fined by the police judges.

A half-hour's observance downtown now will show sidewalkers covered with expectorations, and nothing is thought of it.

If this ordinance was a good one five years ago why shouldn't it be a good one now?

GEORGE PRIDE.

DR. HEXAMER'S FOLLY.

The protest of Dr. Hexamer, president of the German-American Alliance, against the French-British loan, because "England has swept our commerce off the sea," would have more force if Germany had not sent American citizens to the bottom of the ocean.

Nothing could be more ridiculous than Dr. Hexamer's denunciation of the loan as a sinister plot of the Money Trust to involve us in war as an ally of England and to rob the American people of their savings deposited in the banks. His appeal to patriotism to stop it is childish.

Germany, by her lawless submarine warfare and her contemptuous disregard of American rights and American lives on the sea has done more to drive us into the war as an ally of England than all the allied enemies of Germany combined. The German Government has driven us to the verge of war, the issue still being in the balance, on account of Germany's unfriendly conduct.

Germany has gone beyond repeated offenses on the seas; she has fomented strife and conspiracy within our own borders and has tried to control our politics.

The question of making the French-British loan is solely one of interest. The paramount consideration is American welfare. Is it a safe loan? Is it advantageous from the standpoint of trade? Would it contribute to American prosperity?

The essential consideration with American financiers in determining the question of advantage in negotiating the loan is credit for American purchases. It will establish a credit fund for the purchase of American commodities without flooding the country with gold. It is a matter of business. Instead of paying cash, France and England can credit backed by national guarantees.

The loan insures the purchase of American products without disturbing money balances.

Now who is the more patriotic—the bankers who are arranging the loan to insure the continuation of profitable American trade abroad and the stability of finances, or Dr. Hexamer, who urges the withdrawal of money from the banks and the withdrawal of a panic to prevent the loan and the realization of its benefits, in order that Germany may profit? What sort of patriotism is it to which he appeals—patriotism that would sacrifice American welfare to German interest?

Did he appeal to American patriotism to stop the German loan as a conspiracy to thrust us into war as an ally of Germany?

Spades are trumps in the European war game.

SAFETY FIRST.

Commenting on the appalling record of auto accidents, Chief Young was right in saying that more care is needed on the part of both drivers and pedestrians. Accidents are due to the recklessness of auto drivers and the carelessness of pedestrians and drivers of horse vehicles.

Proof of recklessness on the part of auto drivers should be followed by punishment. This will help, but the permanent remedy is regulation and care. Rules for the regulation of traffic, foot and wheel, are the best preventives of accidents. These rules should be voluntarily obeyed as a safeguard against traffic congestion and accidents, but until the public learns to obey them must be enforced.

Regulation of traffic and obedience to sound precautions are requisites to safety. They are the penalties of city growth.

"Safety first" is the slogan.

It devolves upon Britain to show that the Unterseeboote are not in the swim.

A DEAD GINNOL.

One dead and fifty undertakers mysteriously met at the Moose Club behind closed doors. No smaller thing is contemplated than the merging of all their business organizations into one combination. Though efficiency is held as being the reason for this move, it will be hard to convince the public that efficiency in this case is not a euphemism for price. They are forming a dead cinch.

It has been a serious problem for a long time, owing to the high price of living, to figure out how to remain on this mundane sphere. One satisfaction existed, however, in knowing if the worst came the door for departure was always open. Now that is to be closed, or a prohibitive toll put over it.

If a man cannot afford to live and has not the price to die what under heaven is he to do?

THE AMERICAN DOLLAR.

In the war and our growing foreign trade the Federal Reserve Board sees the opportunity of the American dollar. It is hoped that the American dollar may be set up as the universal unit and measure of exchange.

Beloved as it is by all the nations of the earth, the American dollar in its apotheosis, sole emblem of value, shining symbol of all earthly wealth, will be more than ever beautiful to contemplate and dear to the hearts of mankind. The dollar has not always been an exclusively American institution. Before we cornered it, so to speak, the dollar was current in many European countries. The word itself is a modified form of thaler, which with other forms such as daler, dalar, daalder and talero, were shortened, it is believed, from Joachimsthaler. The latter, a coin from the silver mines of Joachimsthal, circulated in Germany in the fourteenth century—a tribute by the way to early German Kultur. This coin was the unit of the German monetary union from 1857 to 1878. To this Joachimsthaler the English pound dollar was first applied. The Spanish piece of eight or real was also commonly referred to as a dollar. It is related that when the Bank of England suspended payment in 1797, and coin was scarce, a large number of Spanish "dollars" were put into circulation countermarked with a bust of George III. The Spanish dollar was current in the Spanish-American colonies also, and very largely in the British-American colonies. As the reckoning in these colonies was by pounds, shillings and pence, the dollar caused great inconvenience, especially in "settling up" with the mother country. A tariff list was adopted by which the gold and silver coins in circulation were appraised.

With each reassort on a new charge each alleged arsonist has to give a new bond. The number of bonds at so much per bond is already so large that there ought to be a pretty penny in it for the professional sureties. A measure of caution will be to see that all of the bonds fulfill legal requirements. Professional bondsmen are often straw bondsmen.

PROFESSIONAL BONDSEN'S HARVEST.

The wind that is blowing ill for the arsonist squad is blowing good for another squad. That is the professional bondsmen's squad. The police can't arrest alleged incendiaries faster than the professional bondsmen can bail them out. The names that appear on the ball bonds are the old familiar names that have been offered for years as sureties in the courts.

will be a curious commentary upon the history of the two countries, and an ironic bit of fate, should England at last be obliged to measure her dignified pounds in the once despised dollar of her rebellious colonies.

LONDON PRIZE COURT CONFISCATION.

About the time Ambassador von Bernstorff announced that submarines would not attack merchant ships unless they attempted to escape or offered resistance, London also announced concessions. The British were to "interfere as little as possible with American trade while yet maintaining any blockade at all." At least that was the way it was put.

Now Judge Samuel T. Evans of the London Prize Court hands down a decision under which millions of dollars' worth of American goods carried in neutral ships is forfeited to the crown.

The principle on which this confiscation is decreed is a cause for more concern than the heavy loss it occasions. The Judge holds that because the neutral countries having land communication with Germany, to which these goods were consigned, were importing much more of American commodities than they were accustomed to import in time of peace, irrefutable evidence is presented that the goods were destined for Germany.

SCROOGE ON STANDING ARMS.

G LAUCON: You are not drilling any more,

SOCRATES: No. So far as I can see,

the whole Plattsburg idea is dead. There seemed no reason for drilling after the prospect of going to war with Germany passed, and we were all very glad to quit. There is nothing in it. It is just as everybody has said: Soldiers are not to be made in a day, and such a camp as that at Plattsburg cannot be said to have any military significance.

Either we must decide to go into this thing seriously, or we must stay out. There is no use deceiving ourselves with half-way measures like the Plattsburg camp. That sort of thing is merely playing at war, and war is not something at which to play.

Thrasymachus: It certainly is not.

Socrates: I asked them if they thought we had made a soldier at Plattsburg, or if they thought any of us, after the work we had done, was qualified to gather the field against someone out of the regular army.

Nobody believed anything of that sort had been accomplished. As a matter of fact nothing had been accomplished. Yes—one thing.

It had been ascertained positively that the way to make soldiers is the way they are made in every country, including our own. There is no other way. If we want to be prepared for war in this country and have a great body of men fit to take the field against a prepared enemy, we shall have to have our period of military service, exactly as they have had it in Germany and France.

Polemarchus: Precisely.

Socrates: I think we all see that now. We did not see it when the Plattsburg camp was proposed because we had no idea what war is. It is exactly like the Olympian games. When I went into the camp I was as soft as butter. Any man not in training is as soft as butter.

At the end of the first day I was so tired I went to bed without my supper. At the end of the second day I was so sore I could scarcely move.

On the morning of the third day I couldn't get up.

Even playing at war had done for me.

It is just as with the prospect of being shot if I do not go into action staring me in the face, as it would have done in real war, I might have crawled out to the firing line on the third day, but four days would have been my limit, at any rate. I was very enthusiastic for a regular army as I lay there groaning.

All of us were. A few athletes, trained to a military edge, were bearing up, but the rest of us were done for. We were not soldiers, and it did not take long to show us up.

A Family to Order

The story of a man and wife without children who were made happy by adopting four at a stroke.

By Elsa Wilson Beebe.

EIGHTEEN years married, and he's the flower of the flock and the pet of the household. What is it, boy? Want me to help you build those block-houses? All right!—and William so vivid and real seemed his picture dream, actually half arose to move over to John his imaginary family.

The action brought him back to the realities of life. He sighed as he drove away the vision influence. Then he smiled whimsically.

"Dear old world, I love everybody!" he piped. "I can't ever be true, but there are my shadow children, just the same."

It was bleak and cold outside, but William was lonely and sleepless. He put on his raincoat, pulled a warm cap down over his face and confronted the blustering elements, setting out for a brisk night stroll.

His heart warmed as he counted the days before Millie would be back. He wondered if she, too, did not long and dream as did he. He began to calculate if he could not afford the care of a couple of adopted mites from the orphan asylum, and then, deep in the woods surrounding the town, he let down his head, swinging pace at the sound of juvenile voices and a fire glow.

"Well, well," he commented, nearing the glow and discerning four little forms within a sheltered nook of greenery.

There were two boys and two girls, the eldest perhaps 15, the youngest not more than 5. They were enjoying the blaze and toasting pieces of ham on the ends of sharpened twigs. All four were chattering animatedly. William listened, amazed and then enlightened.

Building Air Castles.

It was pretty hard to miss her dear presence, and William was terribly lonesome the first night. The next he sat lulling himself into delightful dreams, building a gaudsome air castle that was his constant ideal.

"Yes," he mused, "there's Rodney, the first born, I always fancied that name. He's 16, just out of school, and going to work with me in the office next week. There he sits at that desk over yonder, reading up on bookkeeping."

"That's Leila at the piano, only two years old. I'd see what a tall slip of a girl she is. Helps mother with half of the work now."

"Mary is 10. She's crocheting a Christmas present for mother on the sly."

"And baby Willie—named after me."

Timely Suggestions as to School Frocks for Mothers Whose Purses Are Not So Big.

Plaid Effects for the School Kiddies

HIS is the month when the needs of children and school girls loom large before the elders of their family. To the family of limited purse the making of frocks at home appeals as a means of economy.

Serge is the ubiquitous fabric for school wear, and a good quality will save satisfactorily. Braid, in red or white or black, is the prettiest trimming for dark blue. But this fall some beautiful plaid effects have been introduced which are particularly youthful and charming. A frock of such bright colors may be trimmed with merely some distinctive collar, or belt of a plain material matching in color one of the tones in the plaid. Shepherd check is another youthful material which, though not as serviceable as serge on account of the color, is nevertheless attractive and much liked by the children and young girls. It has a "sporty" air which they are keen to appreciate.

It was bleak and cold outside, but William was lonely and sleepless. He put on his raincoat, pulled a warm cap down over his face and confronted the blustering elements, setting out for a brisk night stroll.

His heart warmed as he counted the days before Millie would be back. He wondered if she, too, did not long and dream as did he. He began to calculate if he could not afford the care of a couple of adopted mites from the orphan asylum, and then, deep in the woods surrounding the town, he let down his head, swinging pace at the sound of juvenile voices and a fire glow.

"Well, well," he commented, nearing the glow and discerning four little forms within a sheltered nook of greenery.

Adopts All of Them.

HE gleaned from their talk that they were young waifs who had been traveling with a circus. They had been raised to that life by their parents, both dead. One of them could perform on the trapeze, another on the slack wire. The smaller ones did a horseback ride, and all four were amateur musicians.

The circus had gone into bankruptcy and their manager had deserted them. For over a week the little quartet, stout-hearted, but hungry, had been beggaring their way back to some big city.

How the heart of William glowed. Ah, here Providence had placed in his charge the shadow children of his visaged. Rodney, Leila, Mary, little William! He burst upon them with an expansive smile and outstretched arms. "Pack up," he shouted. "I adopt you!"

In the hurry-burry of explanation William Dexter was not a rational being. He was only when he had set them under his comfortable roof, and had fed them, and insisted on remanaging them, and had told them that they were adopted for all time to come, that the four little waifs read earnestness in his eyes.

Then Millie came home. She was at the opium gift a kind heaven to each of them. She clasped them in boundless joy to her breast, and then clung about the neck of her husband, crying like a happy baby.

It was unalloyed for a month. Then a great shadow hovered over the devoted group. The bank in which William had all his savings failed. The loss caused him to break down. For weeks he lay in an invalid bed. And then he was crushed as one morning his wife told him that the four children had mysteriously vanished.

"They saw the lean days coming," moaned William. "It's human nature, but I loved them so!"

THE burden of life was harder than ever to bear now. William got back to health, but like his hard-earned savings, his courage was gone. Nights he and his wife would sit, and silent, gazing at the vacant chair.

One night a neighbor, poorly suppressing a vast secret, invited them over to supper. Two hours later, returning home, the guests were startled to notice their house all alight. The shades were down. They entered in a wondering maze.

"Father!"

"Mother!"

"Home!"—and four rapturous souls surrounded them, and hugged them, and laughed and cried, and cried and hurried.

"We left to help you," declared the eldest boy. "We got an engagement with a circus, and we've earned more than $200 a week since we left you and it's yours, and it's our last acting, for we're going to get work here, sister and I, and work for you, and live with you and love you."

Milly was on her knees praying, the tears of joy and gratitude streaming down her cheeks. Reverently the little ones kissed her hands. And, striving to encircle them all in his great loving grasp, William Dexter knew that his imaginary family had been real!

SOME NEW RECIPES

Beef à la Waldorf.—One and one-half pounds of beef cut small, 3 onions cut, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup tapioca soaked while in cold water, 3 can of cream, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup bread-crumb, pinch of cloves. Cover with a little water. Melt and bake 4 hours, then slice raw potatoes over the contents. Cover and bake 1 hour longer. Salt and pepper.

Cocoa Pudding.—Three slices of white bread crumbed fine, 1 egg well beaten, 1 cup sugar, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt, 3 dessertspoons cocoa mixed with a little boiling water, enough to make a paste. Beat for minute or two. Add 1 quart sweet milk. Mix all together, put into a thick baking dish and bake 1 hour. Serve very cold with thin cream and sugar.

Delicious Pudding.—Make a batter of 2 cups of flour, 2 level teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar. (If liked, add a little cinnamon.) Mix with milk until the consistency of biscuit and fry in hot, deep fat. Serve with a sweet, white sauce.

Marguerite Salad.—Arrange cross on a dish. In the center arrange white of hard boiled eggs cut in eighths lengthwise to look like the petals of a daisy. Sift the yolks in the center. Sprinkle with French dressing.

Paprika Relish.—Six green peppers, 4 medium-sized cabbage, 1 large onion, 1 medium-sized cucumber. Chop fine and let stand, salted, overnight. Drain and add 1 teaspoon celery seed, 1 teaspoon mustard seed (white). Dissolve 1 cup white sugar in 1 quart cold vinegar. But all together and bottle.

Small Caliber Martinets

A LL public institutions, I here assert, should have as their employees only people who are courteous, pleasant and kind. One of the greatest hardships of poverty is to be obliged to face the autocratic martinets who seem to guard the doorways of all such organizations, says a writer in the Century Magazine. There is something de-testable and offensive in the frown, impatience and often insulting manner of the women and men who occupy little positions of authority like this, and before whom poor working girls—and I suppose men—must always go.

The conclusion reached is that all comets heretofore observed have originated within the solar system.

Origin of Comets.

PROFESSOR ELIAS STROMGREN, director of the Copenhagen observatory, has carried out, with the aid of J. Braas, an investigation to determine whether comets come originally from interstellar space, as has been commonly supposed, or originate within the solar system. His method of research involved the backward computation of planetary perturbations for eight comets.

The conclusion reached is that all comets heretofore observed have originated within the solar system.

Correct Uses of the Words Likely, Apt and Liable

By H. Jell Jr.

He is apt to catch cold.

He is likely to catch cold.

He is liable to catch cold.

When we essay to express such a fact we are likely to say it any of the three ways, though only the last is correct.

The three words are closely synonymous, but each as you will see possesses its particular shade or degree of meaning.

Literally, "liable" means exposure to a certain contingency as, "Bait is liable to catch cold," or "Liable to slip on the ice," or "Liable to accident if he speeds in an auto," etc., etc.

"Apt" means fitness or suitability as, "Being pretty, she is apt to have many beau," or "being smart is apt to win the prize," or "being swift is apt to win the race."

"Likely" means worthy of ordinary belief or highly probable as, "It is likely to rain during the month" or "to snow during the winter."

By close analysis it is seen that the three words may be used interchangeably and often. But to avoid confusion it cannot be used in their literal sense.

For instance: "Ice left on the porch in the hot sun is both apt, likely and liable to melt. That is, a lump of ice is the best fitted thing to melt in a hot sun, it is also highly probable it will, and being placed in the sun, it is most surely exposed to a certain contingency."

However to say it is "liable to melt" is literally correct, for when one makes the statement one is principally referring to the exposed condition of the ice and not the probability of its melting or its particular suitability for such a wastefulness.

Back Yard Drug Plants.

THE cultivation of drug plants in the United States, concerning which there has been considerable agitation since the outbreak of the present war in Europe, is the subject of a farmers' bulletin recently issued by the Department of Agriculture.

This publication gives, in addition to general instructions regarding cultivation, harvesting and marketing, specific and detailed information concerning about sixty of the leading drug plants which have been grown in this country. The author, W. W. Stockberger, takes a conservative view of the possibilities offered by this branch of agriculture in this country, and especially deprecates the extravagant claims made in some quarters by persons interested in the sale of plants and seeds; who ask the public to believe that extraordinary profits may be realized from growing medicinal plants, even in a situation as remote as the American West.

"Maybe it is," replied the spider. "No one ever understood how to talk to us over. But we spiders have learned it over and we learned that up in the great vine which is a golden web, who can have seen it. The only way to reach this vine is to get on a log which is drifting down the Black Whirlpool, and the water is so delicious soft that he can drink it all day."

"Oh, what shall I do?" she said. "Cecil stood before her, and finished the story of his adventure. You have risked your life for me and brought me home and my babies."

"Oh, no," said Cecil, laying down the web. "I will not touch you at all."

"How can I thank you?" tremulously asked the mother spider. Cecil laughed, but a funny thought popped into his head.

"There is only one thing in the world I wish," he replied. "And that is something which could cure the Princess."

"The one who would cure me," she said.

"Cecil stood before her, and finished the story of his adventure. You have risked your life for me and brought me home and my babies."

"So Cecil and the Princess were married and when the old King died they ruled their happy country for many long years."

Sandman story of the boy who heard a spider talk and learned of a cure for the sick Princess whom he later married.

By Mrs. F. A. Walker.

ONE upon a time there lived a beautiful Princess, whose father's country extended from one ocean to the other. It was full of happy people, but the King was very sad. And the reason was that his only child, the Princess, was delicate and weak. All day long she lay in a bed of soft silk on a cushion of pillows studded with diamonds and pearls. Logs were floating by and disappeared into its depth. Cecil jumped on a tree trunk as it swept by and in a moment was carried swiftly down the whirlpool and under the bank.

It was dark and the roar of the water almost deafened him, but he clung desperately to the gardens. He had seen the Princess and felt very sorry for her as he worked over his flowers. All day he hoed and weeded and so fond was he of the plants he sometimes imagined they talked among themselves.

One day long the log on which he lay went plumping on, and at last raced across which it peacefully floated. The boy looked about and found he was at the edge of his own garden. As the log touched the shore he stepped off and ran to the castle.

All the courtiers crowded about him and gazed in wonder at the beautiful web of gold which gleamed in his arms. "It is for the Princess," he panted.

So the Court Chamberlain seized the web, ran to the bed of the Princess and wrapped its shining mesh around her. It was so deliciously soft that she smiled in delight. In another moment she rose to her feet and stood up, very well and laughing.

"I have always said I would marry the one who would cure me," she said. "Cecil stood before her, and finished the story of his adventure. You have risked your life for me and brought me home and my babies."

"Wrap her in it—it will make her well."

So Cecil and the Princess were married and when the old King died they ruled their happy country for many long years.

JAMES OPPOSES LEONARD IN SECOND GAME AT BOSTON

Former Brown Twirler Gets Chance at Red Sox in Fight for Championship.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 17.—"Dutch" Leonard, Boston's star southpaw, was Manager Carrigan's selection for mound duty in today's game with Detroit. Bill James, Detroit's $15,000 star recently bought from St. Louis, was started against Leonard.

There were 20,000 fans assembled for the second game of the big series.

Ty Cobb was given a tremendous ovation on his first appearance on the field, which was evidence that fair-minded fans repudiated the rowdyism of their countrymen around the Georgia Peach yesterday.

O'Loughlin and Hildebrand were the umpires.

Heal Makes Good Record.

TOLEDO. On Sept. 17.—Hugh Heal, Toledo's star pitcher, has won 60 points in 45 innings in a match game he had last night with M. C. Quinn, Toledo's bantam league champion. If the Millers lose all their remaining games of the season, the best they can do by holding on the outside in their remaining battles is to tie the Cannons' aggregation.

BASEBALL BRIEFS.

With the Cub's shuttling the Superbas, it was the Superbas who won the Reds 10-3. Alexander was on the board, while the Reds had one.

Lee Mages, the ex-manager of the Brookfields, was put out of the game by Brennan for arguing about this. The Superbas had been kicked out.

With the Superbas' win, the Superbas are still 34% game out of first place. Now that Walter Johnson is out of the way, though, and the responsibility of maintaining the standards of the Terriers righted, the Superbas will be back.

McKinley and Yeatman re-entering the field and the fact that in the past few years no serious injuries have resulted from the contests.

The old line was broken up in 1909 and at the time it was thought that would be the death knell of the Terriers.

When Fielder Jones, manager of the Terriers, was notified prior to yesterday's game with the Brooklyn club that he had been set down for three days by President Gilmore for his run-in with Umpire Mullin in Wednesday's game, Otto Stifel, one of the principal stockholders in the club, took a hand in the matter.

"No sooner than he found out that

Jones had been give a three-day lay-off, Mr. Stifel sent a wire to President Gilmore asking him that the three-day suspension be lifted.

The boys are in the thick of the fight for the pennant right now and we can't allow anything to happen that is apt to distract them," said Mr. Stifel this morning. "I don't care whether the Terriers remain here or not, we just want the Mr. Jones' suspension lifted."

After having been barred as an official high school sport for the past six years, football will be under the jurisdiction of the St. Louis Interscholastic Athletic Association.

Hereafter the league officials will be absolute and control the organization. Games between high schools will be decided by verdicts, and all doubt about the awarding of championship titles will be up to the Interscholastic Association with only sheet native ability, spark and interest in its work to hold the public. Tyrus Raymond, the new president of the association, and the promoters actually make money on the exhibitions.

Triple A is showing the "To the front" signs, and the members of the various play-offs of the city will appreciate it.

The example might be advantageously followed in other particulars by many local organizations which have to have their fingers pried loose before they will release the almighty dollar for a public enterprise.

But now, at last, I'm through.

That made me and sore.

Now but I'm going on the farm

To raise a crop of wheat;

DEFEAT ON FOUL COSTS WILLIAMS A WORLD'S TITLE

Verdict Against Former Bantam Champion Upheld by Minnesota Boxing Commission.

By Robert Edgren.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Kid Williams has lost his world's bantamweight championship on a foul. When he fought Johnnie P. P. Frost at Forest Park, the referee officially decided that Williams lost on a foul and the Boxing Commission of the State made his referee's right to make a decision that decision.

There are only two ways in which a champion can lose his title in a bout where no foul is given at the end of a bout. One way is by failing to finish the bout; the other is by giving up.

The Jarr Family

Written for the Post-Dispatch
By Roy L. McCardell.

Yes, Mrs. Jarr Is Jealous of a Woman Her Worthy Husband Has Never Seen.

"THERE'S one of those new skirts now!" cried Mrs. Jarr, as she clutched Mr. Jarr by the arm. Mr. Jarr, who was being led as a lamb to the sacrifice, said through the shopping district, looked around bewildered.

"No, over there!" exclaimed Mrs. Jarr, directing him with her finger: "I mean, as we all know, it's rude to point."

Mr. Jarr had no idea in the world what the new skirt was, nor in the multitude of women that hurried past them in both directions, all as eager as his own wife to save money by spending it, did he notice one skirt that differentiated from another. Still, he thought it best to stimulate at least a passing interest.

"It's a swell thing," he said.

"To admire your taste!" cried Mrs. Jarr. "Don't you think the lines of last year's skirts were much prettier?"

"Oh, yes; oh, yes!" said Mr. Jarr, hurriedly. "But I think the new skirt contains much merit."

"Oh, you weren't looking at the skirt?" said Mrs. Jarr, crushingly. "Your eyes were on the woman that wore it. It's strange to me," continued she, "but that's the sort of woman that appeals to men!"

As Mr. Jarr had no idea what sort of a woman it was that had worn the new skirt he had failed to notice, he kept silence.

A freezing calm seemed to settle over Mrs. Jarr also. They walked on in this wise for half a block and then Mr. Jarr ventured feebly to ask if she didn't think it was a nice day.

"Don't speak to me!" cried Mrs. Jarr. And she raised her veil and dabbed at a tear that stood in the corner of her eye.

"What's the matter?" asked Mr. Jarr. "Gee whiz! What IS the matter now?"

"I prefer you wouldn't speak to me," said Mrs. Jarr. "Let us go home!"

"What do you want to go home for?" asked Mr. Jarr. "Didn't you ask me to come downtown with you? Didn't you say I wasn't interested in anything that concerned you? Didn't you say that other men took an interest in their wives' clothing?"

"But I didn't speak of men who took an interest in other women's clothes and in the women who wore them, did I?" asked Mrs. Jarr.

"Why—what?" sputtered the astounded Mr. Jarr.

"Oh, don't try to pass it off that way," said Mrs. Jarr, with a sob. "It is bad enough to have to realize that perhaps such things occur when I'm not around, but to have my husband while WITH ME, openly admire a woman of THAT type! It's too much—too much!"

And Mrs. Jarr dabbed the handkerchief again.

"Now, look here," said Mr. Jarr, doggedly. "I didn't see the woman wearin' this skirt, and all I can say is that skirts look alike to me!" He felt this was a dangerous admission and hurried on. "That is, I mean I can't tell the style of one dress from another.

Home Again to the "Subletted" Flat.

"John, I'm sure the piano wasn't in the kitchen when we rented our apartments to those folks."

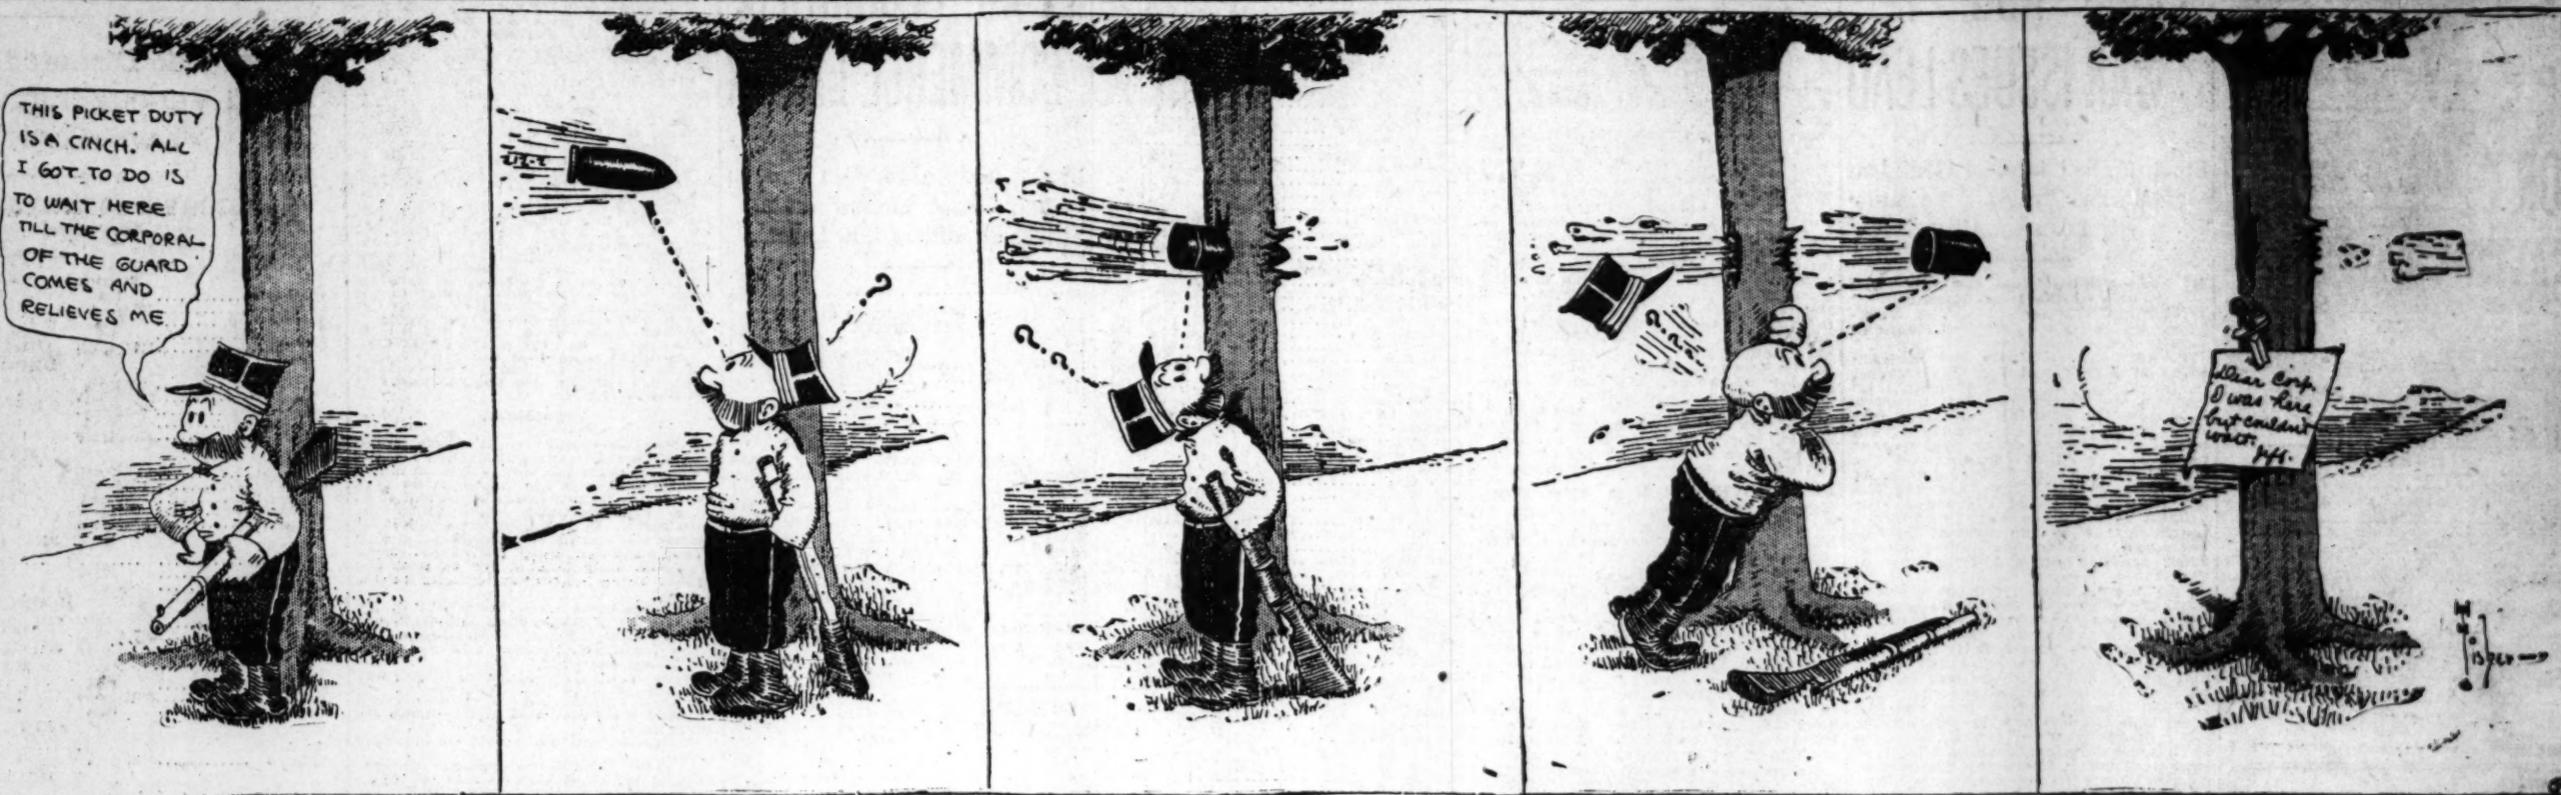

The Best One.

A GENTLEMAN, in delivering one of a series of addresses, excused himself one evening for being unable to speak on several points, the mice, he said, having destroyed part of his notes. Later, while visiting in the neighborhood, he asked one man: "Were you at any of my lectures, Rooney?" Rooney—Indeed, I was, yer honor; all of them. Lecturer: Which one did you like best? "The one the mice was at, yer honor!"

didn't see the dame wearing the new skirt. She wasn't noticing anybody but you, and I did not notice anybody but you, and I'm not going to notice anybody but you, and if you wear one of those new skirts I'll get it for you if I have to take a lead pipe and knock a paymaster on the head with it!"

This sounded better, but Mrs. Jarr shook her head. "I wouldn't wear one of them," she said. "You only want to get me one because you admired that creature in it!"

Mr. Jarr was going to reply, but at this minute they arrived at the portals of the department store.

Yes, 'tis one of the new skirts she's most becoming to her.

Dust These Off, Statesmen.

I REFER to our peerless leader, that magnificent statesman and diplomatist!"

"We, the residents of the brightest star in the firmament of nations, are proud to honor!"

"There is not a man in this room or within the reach of my voice tonight who will not realize the responsibility which rests upon him as a patriot, a gentleman, a scholar and philanthropist and go to the polls on election morning with courage in his heart and cast his free and untrammeled ballot for our magnificent citizen!"

"There are some here who remember the history-making days of Bunker Hill—I mean Gettysburg when the nation's life was in the balance, and, with this in mind, I say to you, can you satisfy your conscience if you vote for any one of our eminent, forcible, talented, versatile, diplomatic, philosophical, courageous candidate?"

How did you come to give your wife the new car?

"Just a case of auto suggestion, old man."

One Good Reason.

JIMMY," said the teacher, "can you tell me what lightning is?"

"Yes, ma'am," was the ready rejoinder of little Jimmy. "Lightning is streaks of electricity."

"That's right," smiled the teacher, encouragingly. "Now tell me why it is that lightning never strikes twice in the same place."

"Because," answered Jimmy, quite easily, "after it hits once the same place ain't there any more."

Don't Ever Let Anyone Tell You This as a New One.

I SEE where all persons who have been vaccinated street cars are to be vaccinated."

"That's odd. What for?"

"To keep 'em from catching the jitneys."

After-Vacation Thoughts.

I WISH I was a little rock a-settin' on a hill;

A'doin' nothing all day long

But just a-settin' still.

I wouldn't eat, I wouldn't drink,

I wouldn't even wash,

I'd set and set a thousand years

And rest myself, by gosh.

Not Aloud.

O'H, dear!" said the young wife, a-settin' on a hill;

A'doin' nothing all day long

But just a-settin' still.

I wouldn't eat, I wouldn't drink,

I wouldn't even wash,

I'd set and set a thousand years

And rest myself, by gosh.

Liked the Sample.

BANG!" went the rifles at the maneuvers. "Oo-oo!" screamed the pretty girl—a nice, decorous, surprised little scream. She stepped backward into the arms of a young man.

"Oh!" said she, blushing. "I was frightened by the rifles. I beg your pardon."

"Not at all," said the young man.

"Let's go over and watch the artillery."

Let Him Blow It Out.

HOTEL PROPRIETOR: What is that crowd outside looking at?

Clerk (after brief inspection): Well, I swan! That lay in No. 500 has twisted around his gas jet and poked it out the window with the flame burning.

Proprietor: Front! Take a pair of shears to No. 500, get that card which says:

"Don't blow out the gas."

Turn it out."

And cut off the last line.
